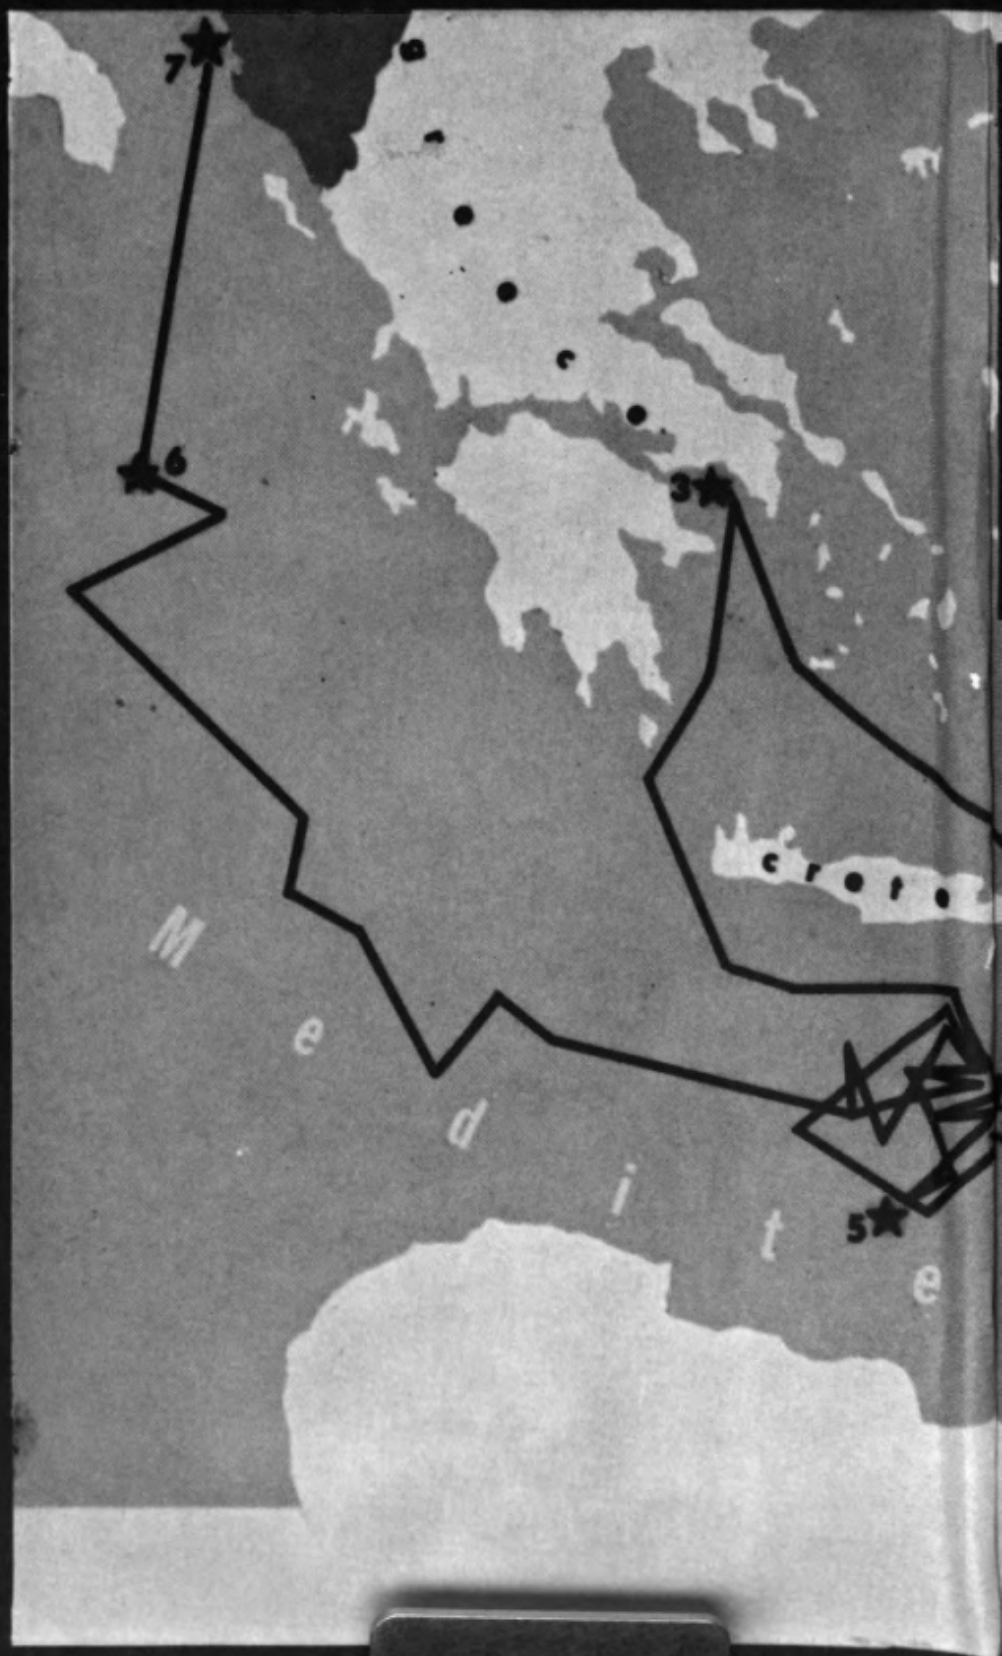
UC-NRLF
B 4 450 139

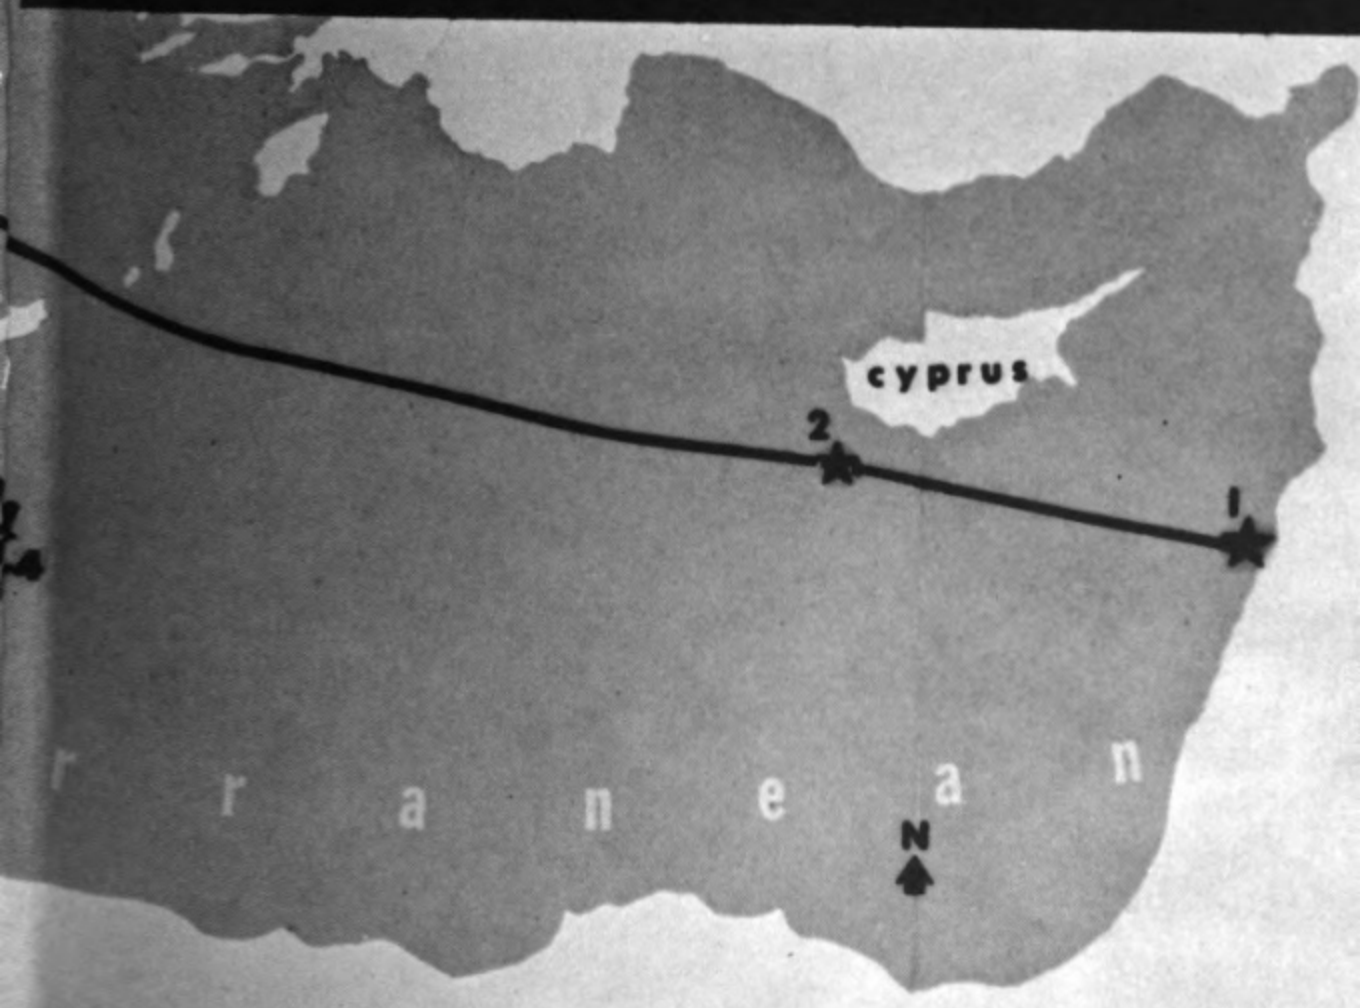
Digitized by Google
Original from
UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA



Digitized by Google
Original from UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA

SPYING ON THE U.S. SIXTH FLEET
THE FICTIONAL CRUISE OF THE W-7, September–October 1958

1. Beirut Harbor, Lebanon, where the sub W-7 failed in its mission.
2. At this point, the W-7 intercepted two American destroyers and followed them to a rendezvous with major units of the Sixth Fleet.
3. Piraeus Harbor, near Athens, Greece, where U.S. fleet units rendezvoused under the watchful eye of the Soviet sub.
4. At this point, two destroyers picked up contact on the W-7 but failed to maintain it.
5. Here the W-7 witnessed the crash at sea of a U.S. carrier-based aircraft, as it was making its approach on the U.S.S. Forrestal.
6. Tailing of the Sixth Fleet ended here. The W-7 turned off to head for Vlona, Albania.
7. Final destination of W-7, Vlona, Albania.



Google
Original from
UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA