Monograph Series, Volume Three

PAINTING AND SCULPTURE AT MISSION SANTA BARBARA

by KURT BAER

Professor of Art, University of California at Santa Barbara Art Historian, California Missions

Art work in the Old Missions was not merely ornamental. It was a "visual aid" employed in the Christian instruction of the Indians. The padres were always adding to the mission collections with appropriate foreign reproductions and pieces done by the natives themselves. With the secularization of the Missions and their gradual abandonment, more and more of these treasures found their way to Mission Santa Barbara, and it has become a rich depository of early California art.

Dr. Baer has for the first time attempted a comprehensive description and evaluation of this interesting collection. More than 150 photographs of the originals at the Mission, with the author's explanatory text for each, constitute a unique study of this phase of California mission history.
