Women's Writing in Italy, 1400–1650

Virginia Cox

“The most substantive study written to date on the relations between Italian humanism and the emergence of the female intellectual. Authoritative, wide-ranging, and persuasive, this book sets a new benchmark for scholarship on early modern women’s writings.”

Strange Concepts and the Stories They Make Possible

Cognition, Culture, Narrative

Lisa Zunshine

From Short Circuit to I, Robot, from The Parent Trap to Big Business, fantastic tales of rebellious robots, animated artifacts, and twins mistaken for each other are a permanent fixture in popular culture and have been since antiquity. Why do these strange concepts captivate the human imagination so thoroughly? Zunshine explores how cognitive science, specifically its ideas of essentialism and functionalism, combined with historical and cultural analysis, can help us understand why we find such literary phenomena so fascinating.

Studies in Eighteenth-Century Culture

Volume 37

edited by Linda Zionkowski and
Downing Thomas

The essays in this volume share a common concern with investigating Enlightenment categories of historical understanding and determining how these categories helped shape Enlightenment culture. The contributors address the question of how eighteenth-century writers make sense of the past—how they interpret it, give it meaning and form, and deploy it for their own practical, aesthetic, and ideological purposes.

Shakespeare Inside The Bard Behind Bars By Amy Scott-Douglass

"This is a wonderfully honest book. We really get to meet the inmates and see how Shakespeare has changed their lives. One cannot help being deeply moved by a prisoner who says, 'Shakespeare still lives even though he's dead. His spirit lives on. A lot of things that he wrote are happening in the world today.' The truth of this insight, and its special pertinence to those who are in prison, is borne out again and again in this totally absorbing and engagingly written book."

—David Bevington, Departments of English and Comparative Literature, University of Chicago, editor of The Complete Works of Shakespeare

"The scenes she [Amy Scott-Douglass] describes are richly provocative... Prison, we discover, is one of the last bastions of unapologetic bardolatry."

American Earth

Environmental Writing Since Thoreau

Bill McKibben, editor • Foreword by Al Gore

Writer and activist

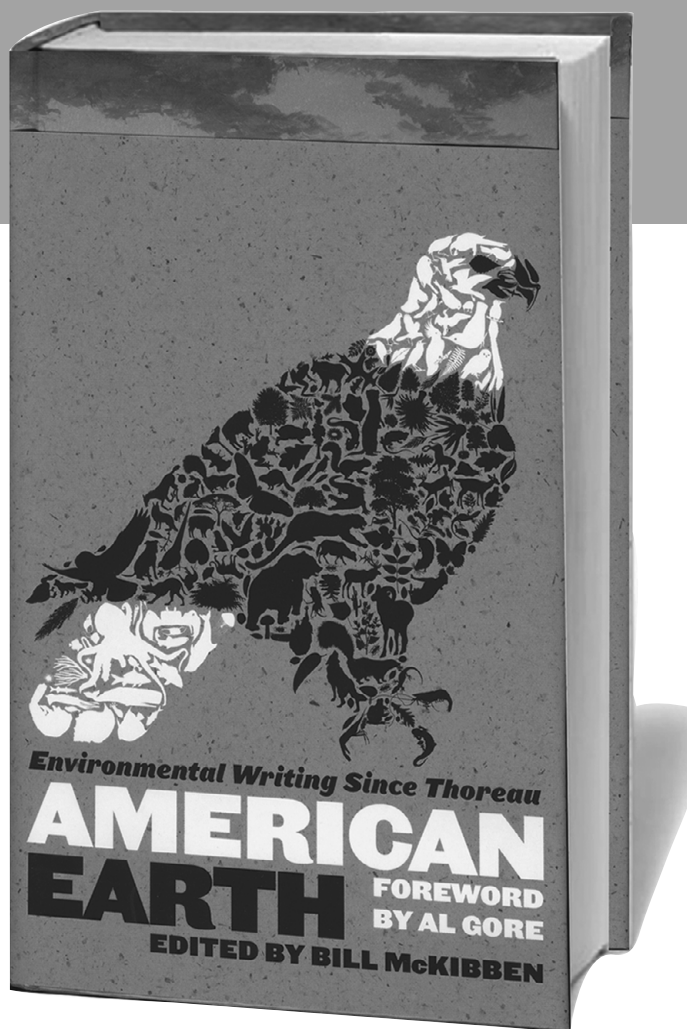

Bill McKibben presents an unprecedented provocative, and inspiring anthology gathering 175 years of the very best American environmental writing, from Henry David Thoreau to Rachel Carson and beyond.

"Superb. . . American Earth can be read as a survey of the literature of American environmentalism, but above all, it should be enjoyed for the sheer beauty of the writing."

— Publishers Weekly (starred review)

"Unique, much-needed. . . If you choose but one environmental book this season, make it American Earth."

NEW from Knopf

AFTER DARK

by Haruki Murakami
translated by Jay Rubin

“There’s a dreamlike quality to Haruki Murakami’s mesmerizing new novel, [where] amid the alienation are flickers of hopefulness springing from seemingly random, serendipitous human interactions and connections. . . . Like a latter-day Walker Percy or Albert Camus, Murakami raises questions about perception and existence [and] captures the palpable loneliness and essential unfathomability at the heart of modern life.” —The Christian Science Monitor

Vintage | Paper | 256 pages | $13.95

THE PESTHOUSE

by Jim Grace

“At one level, The Pesthouse is a suspenseful road novel . . . but at its heart, it is a meditation on deep questions about America: the costs of relentless expansion, the fate of a wasteful industrial society.” —Los Angeles Times

“The Pesthouse is a moving tale, a tour de force of imagination and ingenuity, written in a language that even the best poets would admire.” —World Literature Today

Vintage | Paper | 272 pages | $13.95

EDITH WHARTON

by Hermione Lee

“A remarkable feat. . . . Unquestionably authoritative, impressively exhaustive. . . . Nobody has done Edith Wharton such careful justice as [Hermione] Lee.”

—Claire Messud, The New York Times Book Review

Vintage | Paper | 912 pages | $18.95

THE COMPLETE STORIES

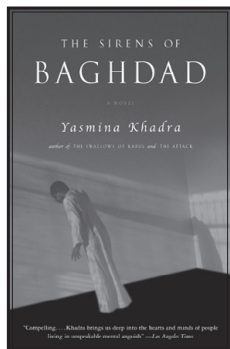

by David Malouf

“Malouf is one of our finest writers, a poet with an ear for language that transforms an interesting concept into a classic meditation on the role of chance in each of our lives.”

—San Francisco Chronicle

Vintage | Paper | 576 pages | $16.95

THE SIRENS OF BAGHDAD

by Yasmina Khadra
translated by John Cullen

“Yasmina Khadra’s work has been compared to that of his Algerian compatriot Albert Camus, and The Sirens of Baghdad has a similar blaze of heat, the same heavy, insoluble questions and the same need to face them down, even to one’s death.”

—San Francisco Chronicle

Anchor | Paper | 320 pages | $13.95

A HANDBOOK TO LUCK

by Cristina García

“Pitch-perfect. . . . García is still drawn to describe the richness and variety of the immigrant experience. . . . [But] she also fixes her attention on the fundamentally human desire to make sense of the world, to impose order on the chaos of nature and to rationalize one’s mysterious place within it.”

—Chicago Tribune

Vintage | Paper | 272 pages | $13.95

ON CHESIL BEACH

by Ian McEwan

“This breathtaking novel. . . . McEwan’s prose is as masterly as ever, here striking a remarkably subtle balance between detachment and sympathy, dry wit and deep compassion. It reaffirms my conviction that no one now writing in English surpasses or even matches McEwan’s accomplishment.”

—Jonathan Yardley, The Washington Post Book World

A WRITER’S PEOPLE

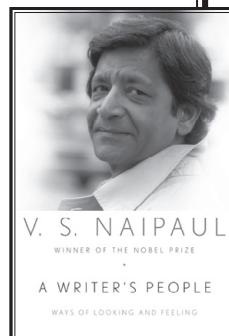

Ways of Looking and Feeling

by V. S. Naipaul

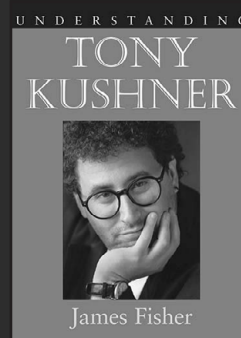

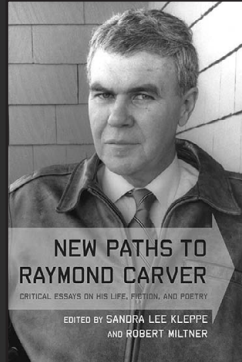

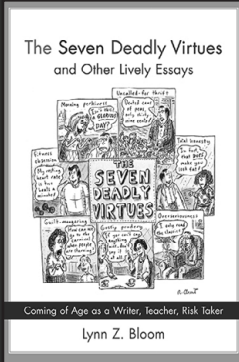

“[T]his is a brilliant work from a man who more than anybody else embodies what it means to be a writer. . . . As it turns out, Naipaul’s reading has been as wide and deep as the peregrinations through the decolonised world that marked the second phase of his career. . . . Revelatory.”

The Political Imagination in History

Essays concerning J.G.A. Pocock

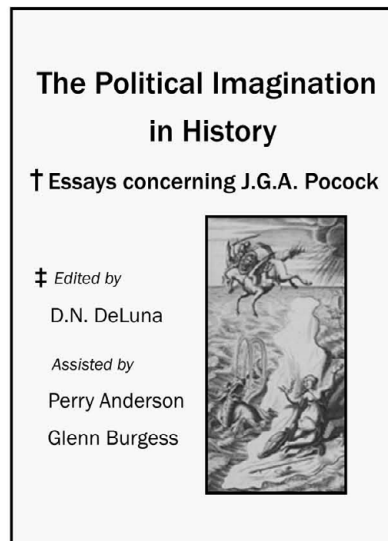

J.G.A. Pocock is the greatest historian of political thought in our time. His writings belong to a tradition in the humanities which has looked to the research university as its sign and symbol. But the power of his vast erudition and of his hermeneutic — put to reconstructing crucial aspects of the British and European past — has made him an institution unto himself.

This volume throws into relief Pocock's procedures and concerns. Edited by D.N. DeLuna assisted by Perry Anderson and Glenn Burgess, it offers a comprehensive appraisal of his writings.

The contributing essayists work in diverse fields in history and literature:

Maryse Condé and
Postcolonial Criticism

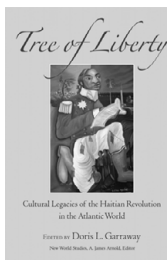

DAWN FULTON

Maryse Condé is a Guadeloupean writer and critic whose work has challenged the categories of race, language, gender, and geography that inform contemporary literary and critical debates. In Signs of Dissent, Dawn Fulton situates this award-winning author's work in the context of current theories of cultural identity in order to foreground Condé's unique contributions to these discussions.

SOON COME
Jamaican Spirituality,
Jamaican Poetics

HUGH HODGES

Soon Come celebrates Jamaican poetry as an expression and extension of the island's rich spiritual traditions, offering fresh insights into some of the late twentieth century's most important and influential poetry. Drawing inspiration from the history of Myal, Kumina, Revivalism, and Rastafari, Hodges develops a critical language for the discussion of a wide range of Jamaican texts, both oral and written.

New York University in Madrid

A One-Year M.A. Program in Spanish and Latin American Languages and Literatures with a Concentration in either Spanish and Latin American Literatures and Cultures or Spanish Language and Translation

Drawing on the resources of NYU, the city of Madrid, and professors from both Spanish universities and the NYU Department of Spanish and Portuguese in New York, we offer an M.A. program that is both intellectually stimulating and academically rigorous. M.A.

candidates study at NYU in Madrid's center in El Viso, a residential area of Madrid very close to the center of the city, as well as at the historic Instituto Internacional. Day and weekend study-visits, guest lecturers, and a Graduate Research Symposium in April complete the academic program. On approval, students may also take courses at the Universidad Autónoma de Madrid.

Segre 8, El Viso

COURSE OFFERINGS

The yearlong course, A Cultural History of Spain and Latin America, is taught by faculty from leading Spanish universities and from the NYU Department of Spanish and Portuguese in New York. Electives in the Literatures and Cultures Concentration range from Cervantes, Pictorial Traditions in Spain and Its Latin American Colonies, to courses on 20th-century Spanish and Latin American literatures. Offerings for the Language and Translation Concentration include The Theory and Practice of Translation, Problems in Spanish Syntax for Bilingual Communication, and The Teaching of Spanish as a Foreign Language. All courses are taught in Spanish.

NYU in Madrid also offers an undergraduate program for the academic year, fall, spring, or summer. Courses are taught in Spanish and English.

THE FIVE SEASONS OF LOVE – João Almino, trans. Elizabeth Jackson

To fulfill a pact made during her student days, fifty-five-year-old Ana Kauffman plans a party to celebrate the new millennium. As old friends resurface and the countdown to the new century draws near, Ana's past undergoes a series of unexpected revisions – beginning with the arrival of Berta, the newly minted post-op persona of Ana's former boyfriend Norberto. Set amidst the chaos of contemporary Brasília, a place where even the most basic human affairs – love, friendship, sex, and work – can take unlikely shapes, Ana's story is both relentlessly modern and profoundly timeless.

PONCIÁ VICENCIO - Conceição Evaristo, trans. Paloma Martinez-Cruz

Ponciá Vicencio, the debut novel by Afro-Brazilian writer Conceição Evaristo, is the story of a young Afro-Brazilian woman's journey from the home of her enslaved ancestors to the wasteland of contemporary urban life. Seeking an escape from rural poverty and generations of despair, Ponciá Vicencio moves to the city to start a new life. But in the loneliness of the inhospitable city, voices from the past crowd her mind. What is her grandfather's mysterious legacy? Can her family escape from servitude? And can we ever really outrun our past? This mystical story of family, dreams, and hope illuminates urban and rural Afro-Brazilian conditions with poetic eloquence and raw urgency.

FOURTEEN FEMALE VOICES FROM BRAZIL - Brazilian Drama, Prose & Poetry

This fascinating introduction to Brazilian culture includes interviews with fourteen of Brazil's most prominent female writers, along with excerpts from their work. Containing eleven stories, three plays and nineteen poems, 14 Female Voices From Brazil opens the door to a multitude of unique perspectives on life, art and love. Each author provides thought-provoking answers to the same ten questions, before presenting the reader with a poem, play or story that embodies the essence of their work. Whether trapped in a dead-end marriage or considering the terrible beauty of a shantytown, reflecting on transvestites at the Hilton or learning to finally say "no," these excerpts thoughtfully illuminate the artistic approaches and cultural experiences of these fourteen brilliant women. From Brazil's early groundbreaking feminists to the newly emerging voice of young Afro-Brazilians, 14 Female Voices From Brazil offers English-speaking audiences an intriguing taste of Brazilian cultural life.

3 CONTEMPORARY BRAZILIAN PLAYS 2nd Edition - Brazilian Drama

This exciting bilingual volume of Brazilian theater includes three plays written by some of the nation's most creative dramatists. Plinio Marcos's Two Lost in the Filthy Night shows language as the only possession of two paupers living in claustrophobic conditions. Leilah Assumpção's Moist Lips, Quiet Passion explores the sexual life of a couple trying to achieve their "Big Orgasm," where existence is possible only through games. In Walking Papers, by Consuelo de Castro, a man and a woman interact in fragmented situations bordering on insanity. This revised edition includes improved translation, updated commentary and a new introduction.

ELECTRONIC LITERATURE

NEW HORIZONS FOR THE LITERARY

N. KATHERINE HAYLES

“No critic, save N. Katherine Hayles, has the wide grasp of literary criticism, new media history and technology, cyber-culture and its philosophical implications, and the interplay between electronic and print imaginative writing. Now, in the five straightforward, readable chapters of Electronic Literature, Hayles supplies the tools and builds the contexts necessary for everyone to grasp the importance of her topic and integrate it into her or his own knowledge base. Her book and CD package will be snapped up by scholars and students alike.” —Dee Morris, University of Iowa

Our upcoming conference will be the 67th meeting of The English Institute. This year will mark a major change in our conference planning. Beginning in 2008, the Institute is turning its attention to some of the building-blocks of the profession and craft: periodization, genre, authorship, reading, the critic's voice, and other issues of key concern to students, teachers, scholars, and theorists of literature.

Alexander von Humboldt

Stiftung / Foundation

Transatlantic Cooperation in Research (TransCoop)

One Goal: Collaborative research

Two Partners: Scholars in the Humanities, Social Sciences, Economics and Law

Three Countries: Canada, Germany, and the United States

The Facts: Through its TransCoop Program, the Alexander von Humboldt Foundation provides one half of the funding—up to EUR 45,000 over three years—for a proposed research collaboration. U.S. and/or Canadian funds must cover the balance of the cost of the project. TransCoop funds may be used by all partners for short-term research stays at the partners' institutions, travel expenses, conference organization, material and equipment, printing costs, and research assistants. Applications should be submitted jointly by at least one German and one U.S. or Canadian scholar. Ph.D. required. Deadlines: April 30 and October 31.

For information about this and other opportunities, go to www.humboldt-foundation.de or contact the American Friends of the Alexander von Humboldt Foundation at info@americanfriends-of-avh.org.

LITERARY RESEARCH GUIDE

AN ANNOTATED LISTING OF REFERENCE SOURCES IN ENGLISH LITERARY STUDIES

5th edition • James L. Harner

James L. Harner's Literary Research Guide, which Choice calls "the standard guide in the field," evaluates important reference materials in English studies. In the new edition Harner has revised nearly half the entries from the fourth edition. There are substantially more electronic resources, particularly reliable sites sponsored by academic institutions and learned societies, including bibliographic databases, text archives, and other online resources. This edition also features a new section on cultural studies.

The annotations for each work

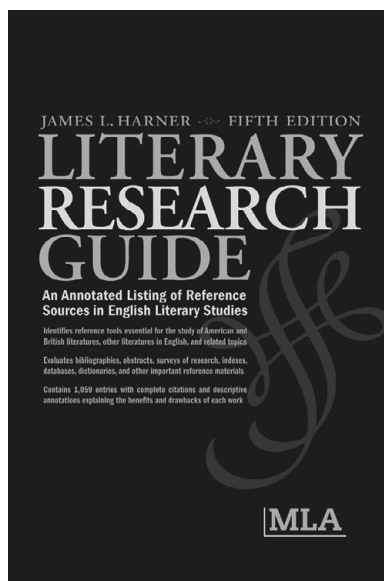

- describe its type, its scope, its major limitations, and its organization
- present parts of a typical entry
- list the type and number of indexes
- evaluate coverage, organization, and accuracy
- explain its uses in research
- cite significant reviews that more fully define the importance or uses of the work or its place in the scholarly tradition
- note related works, including supplementary, complementary, or superseded ones not accorded separate entries in the Guide

The Guide concludes with name, title, and subject indexes.
