

The North American Conference on British Studies

The Journal of British Studies, founded in 1961, is published by the University of Chicago Press under the auspices of the North American Conference on British Studies (NACBS). It was the result of the imaginative generosity of a Trinity College alumnus, Frederick E. Hasler (Hon. LL.D. 1957), who contributed funds to the college for the specific purpose of establishing a learned periodical in the field of British history.

The North American Conference on British Studies is a scholarly society affiliated with the American Historical Association and open to anyone in the United States and Canada interested in British civilization in its several aspects: historical, archaeological, literary, artistic, political, and sociological. Its North American constituency comprises about eight hundred members drawn from the fifty states and ten provinces. Affiliated with the parent organization are seven regional conferences (New England, Middle Atlantic, South, Midwest, Western, Pacific Coast, and Northwest) each having its own offices and programs and with a combined membership of more than two thousand. The Conference convenes at least once a year in the autumn, usually in joint session with one of its regional affiliates. It seeks to encourage the serious study of British history, literature, and politics, as well as allied subjects, and among the general reading public through meetings, book prizes, and association with likeminded organizations in North America and Britain and through its publication program.

The Conference sponsors a wide variety of publications. Another journal, Albion, issued four times a year at Appalachian State University, Boone, North Carolina, and sent to all members of the parent organization, includes articles, proceedings of all meetings, and book reviews. The Conference's newsletter, the British Studies Intelligencer also sent to members, is published at Georgetown University, and contains notices of meetings devoted to British studies, news of appointments, moves, and retirements, and notes on current publications and research in progress. Other publications appear periodically and will be noted at such times.

The Conference awards the following book prizes: the British Council Prize in the Humanities ($750), awarded through an annual grant by the British Embassy, Washington, D.C., in association with the British Council in the United Kingdom, and given to the best book published in the preceding year by a North American scholar on any aspect of British studies; the John Ben Snow Prize in History and the Social Sciences ($750), made possible by an annual grant from the Snow Foundation and given for a book in British history, politics, economics, or the history of ideas; and the Walter D. Love Memorial Prize ($150) for the best scholarly article in any field of British history. Nominations for any of these prizes may be made to the Executive Secretary of the NACBS, Professor George Behlmer, Department of History, University of Washington, Seattle, Washington 98195. Authors must be residents of Canada or the United States, but their work may appear either in North America or abroad.

Information about membership in the NACBS can be found on the copyright page of this journal.

RELUCTANT ICON

Gladstone, Bulgaria, and the Working Classes, 1856-1878

Ann Pottinger Saab

Reluctant Icon tells the story of one of the most relentless social crusades of the Victorian era. Under the leadership of former prime minister William Ewart Gladstone, a loose coalition of Nonconformists, Radicals, and High Churchmen created a climate of indignation over the 1876 massacre by Turks of their Bulgarian subjects that was strong enough to call into question the Disraeli government's policy toward the Near East. This absorbing analysis draws on a rich variety of sources to recreate a pivotal episode in late nineteenth-century British history.

Ships, Money and Politics Seafaring and Naval Enterprise in the Reign of Charles I

Kenneth R. Andrews

The Civil War and revolution of Charles I's reign coincided with a critical period in the growth of England's shipping industry and naval power. This book shows the convergence of these problems and offers a major reinterpretation of various economic and social aspects of the reign of Charles I.

40116-X Hardcover $44.50

Currents of Radicalism Popular Radicalism, Organised Labour and Party Politics in Britain, 1850–1914

Eugenio F. Biagini and Alastair J. Reid, Editors

These original essays argue that there was a substantial continuity in popular radicalism throughout nineteenth-century Britain. It shows that early nineteenth-century concerns remained prominent in extra-Parliamentary agitations in the mid-Victorian period, that popular pressure played a major role in shaping the Gladstonian Liberal Party, and that radical liberalism was a central element in the early history of the labor party.

39455-4 Hardcover $49.50

David Knowles Remembered

Christopher Brooke, Roger Lovatt, David Luscombe and Aelred Sillem

David Knowles (1896–1974) was a devout monk of the Downside community, who nonetheless left his community, became a Fellow of Peterhouse, Cambridge, Professor of Medieval History, then Regius Professor—an eminent historian, a great master of prose, and a deeply respected and influential teacher. In this book the authors tell the story of his life.

Lordship, Knighthood and Locality

A Study in English Society,
c. 1180–1280

Peter R. Coss

This book makes a significant contribution toward the social history of medieval England, with a strong emphasis on the honor and locality of Coventry, its knights, free tenants, and local administrators.

Past and Present Publications

40296-4 Hardcover $59.95

Fundamental Authority in Late Medieval English Law Norman Doe

This book describes a fundamental tension in fifteenth-century English legal thought. Dr. Doe shows how two sets of ideas about law and authority emerged in the late-medieval period, one stressing the moral basis of law, the other advancing the view that laws are authoritative simply because they originate in the human will.

Cambridge Studies in English Legal History
38458-3 Hardcover $44.50

Ethnicity and Nationalism in Post-Imperial Britain Harry Goulbourne

This book considers some important aspects of nationalism and ethnicity with specific reference to Britain. The author describes the kind of national community post-imperial Britain is constructing, arguing that the appeal to ethnic affinity is a serious obstacle to the building of a non-racial national community.

Comparative Ethnic and Race Relations

Cardinal Wolsey
Church, State and Art
S. J. Gunn and P. G. Lindley,
Editors

This lavishly illustrated book combines essays by eleven experts with a broad introduction to examine every aspect of Wolsey's career. It sets him in his English and European context as a politician, international and domestic statesman, ecclesiastical reformer and power-broker, and also as patron of the arts.

37568-1 Hardcover $49.50

The Anglo-Dutch Movement
Essays on the Glorious Revolution and its World Impact
Jonathan I. Israel, Editor

The Glorious Revolution of 1688-91 was a watershed in the constitutional history of England; but the Revolution also extended to, and had a major impact on, Scotland, Ireland and North America and Europe, especially the Dutch Republic. This is the first book to set the Glorious Revolution in its full British, European and American context.

39075-3 Hardcover $89.50

Eclipse of Empire
D. A. Low

Eclipse of Empire brings together the work of one of the foremost historians of the recent colonial experience to provide comprehensive outline accounts of the end of the British Empire in India and in Africa, and to assess the many sociopolitical ramifications of this process.

A Rural Society after the Black Death
Essex 1350-1525

Larry Poos

This study seeks to understand how, in the population collapse after the Black Death (1348-1349), a particular economic environment affected ordinary people's lives in the areas of migration, marriage, and employment, and also contributed to patterns of religious nonconformity, agrarian riots and unrest, and even rural housing.

Cambridge Studies in Population, Economy and Society in Past Time 18

38260-2 Hardcover $59.50

Palmerston and Liberalism, 1855-1865
E. D. Steele

This study of the premiership of Lord Palmerston shows how a famous statesman prepared Britain for democracy, before the advent of the Second Reform Bill, and contributed to the long period of peace in nineteenth-century Europe that later generations have envied.

Giordano Bruno and the Embassy Affair

John Bossy

Delving into a nether world of treachery and intrigue in Elizabethan London, John Bossy solves a centuries-old mystery: was “Fagot”—the spy working within the French embassy in London to subvert Catholic attempts to overthrow Queen Elizabeth and her government—the Italian philosopher, poet, and patriot Giordano Bruno?

“A fascinating detective story that is also an impeccable work of scholarship.”
—Bernard Wasserstein $29.95

The Restoration Church of England, 1646-1689

John Spurr

This important book—the first serious account of the restoration of the Church of England after the English Civil War—explains the invention of Anglicanism in the second half of the seventeenth century, a period when it began to establish a distinct identity, to recognize and explain how it differed from both the Church of Rome and the Protestant Reformed churches of Europe. $37.50

White Dreams, Black Africa

The Antislavery Expedition to the Niger, 1841-1842

Howard Temperley

This fascinating book—the first single account of the expedition since the participants published their own experiences in the 1840s—tells the bizarre, tragicomic story of a “civilizing” expedition to the Niger and its aftermath, shedding light on Britain’s humanitarian endeavor and on the intricate politics of pre-colonial West Africa. $35.00

Jane Austen

Real and Imagined Worlds

Oliver MacDonagh

In an elegant and fascinating book, a distinguished historian shows how Jane Austen’s novels illuminate early nineteenth-century English history and how, in turn, an appreciation of this period in history enriches our reading of the novels.

“[MacDonagh’s] book directs beams of light at the novels, brightening their literary as well as their historical background....Admirably lucid and entertaining.”—Sue Gaisford, The Independent $32.00
