

The Amazon Rubber Boom

1850-1920

Barbara Weinstein. This is a full-scale account of one of the most epic “boom and bust” cycles in Latin American history—the Amazon rubber trade’s 70-year dominance of the Brazilian economy. Broken by the successful cultivation of rubber trees by the British in Southeast Asia, the long period of vigorous economic activity in the rubber trade left the basic structure of Amazonian society relatively unchanged. One of the author’s main concerns is to explore why rubber exports did not generate substantial growth in either the industrial or the agricultural sectors. She also considers the impact of political decentralization and regionalism on the economy, draws comparisons with the coffee boom in São Paulo, and traces the consequences of the rubber economy’s collapse on the social, political, and economic life of the region. $29.50

An Andean Society Under Inca and Spanish Rule

Karen Spalding. This major work provides the first synthesis of the varied data—ethnographic, historical, archaeological, and archival—on the impact of the Spanish conquest and Spanish rule on Indian society in Peru. Set in one of the two centers of Spanish occupation and settled Indian civilization in America, it is the story of a social relationship of inequality and oppression that endured for centuries, and inevitably led to the collapse of Andean society. The author delineates the basic relationships upon which local Andean society was based, and examines how the Indians responded to or resisted the political structures imposed upon them, and how they dealt with, were exploited by, or benefitted from the Europeans. THE WORLD TODAY

STUDENTS OF CURRENT AFFAIRS, to be well informed, need the facts. In THE WORLD TODAY, the monthly journal of the Royal Institute of International Affairs, experts bring to the general reader up-to-date and reliable information on world affairs.

Authoritative and objective, THE WORLD TODAY deals primarily with international problems but also includes articles on internal political and economic conditions in individual countries or regions, written by authors with first-hand knowledge. Short comment in 'Notes of the Month' puts current developments into perspective and provides a background to events of international significance.

SURVEY

TWO SPECIAL ISSUES

POLAND UNDER JARUZELSKI

Part I, Vol. 26, No. 3 (116)

Part II, Vol. 26, No. 4 (117)

The "state of war" has been suspended, but the war goes on. These two special issues of SURVEY on Self-Occupation and Resistance in Poland provide a vivid picture of the struggle of the Polish people against the regime's attempt to re-impose totalitarian control over a society which recovered its sense of identity and freedom in the period of Solidarity. SURVEY conveys to the Western reader an understanding of the issues involved, a feeling of the continuing historical movement, and telling glimpses of some of the protagonists: Jaruzelski, Rakowski, Urban, Walesa, Bujak, Glemp. It gives a unique insight into the wider implications of Polish developments in terms of East-West relations, and scrutinizes Western attitudes to them.

It also contains a sensational Party document which has never been disclosed:

Comparative Studies in Society and History is a forum for presentation and discussion of new research into problems of change and stability that recur in human societies through time or in the contemporary world. It sets up a working alliance between specialists in all branches of the social sciences and humanities. Debate and review articles bring the general reader in touch with current findings and issues.

NOTES FOR CONTRIBUTORS

Contributions may be descriptive, analytical or theoretical. Any article not in itself comparative may be accepted if it lends itself to comment that will place it in comparative perspective. Correspondence with the editors prior to the submission of articles will help to enable them to obtain such comment or a companion study. Emphasis in comparative studies may be either on similarities or, if these are significant enough and call for some recasting of generalizations, on differences. All contributions and editorial correspondence should be sent to the Editors, Comparative Studies in Society and History, Department of History, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, Michigan 48109.

Two copies of each contribution, preferably accompanied by a stamped, addressed envelope, should be submitted. Both text and footnotes should be clearly typed with double spacing and wide margins; footnotes should appear on separate pages at the end of the article. Illustrations may be included by arrangement with the editors.

Contributors will receive 50 offprints. Any additional offprints must be ordered on receipt of the first proof.
