Librarian Is AAUP President

The new president of the American Association of University Professors (AAUP) is Martha Friedman, associate professor and history and philosophy librarian at the University of Illinois, Urbana. She has been a member of the university faculty since 1965 with her particular area of research being the history of American academic libraries and the development of ideas of professionalism in librarianship. Friedman has served on the Faculty Senate at the University of Illinois and has been the chairperson of the Senate Council since 1976. She has also been a member of numerous other campus committees. Since 1965, when she joined AAUP, she has held many chapter and conference offices and recently completed a term as first vice-president of AAUP.
