RETIREMENTS

MARY JANE MITCHELL, director of the James White Library at Andrews University, Berrien Springs, Michigan, for the past 21 years, retired on July 29.

HILDA MUDD, director of library resources at Brescia College, Owensboro, Kentucky, retired August 7 after 32 years of service. She assisted in the planning of the present library building and will continue as archivist and collection development librarian.

MARION MURDOCH retired as head of the Acquisitions Department at the University of California, Berkeley, on October 9 after 38 years of service.

DEATHS

MARIE HAMILTON LAW, former dean of the Drexel University Library School, former director of the Drexel Library, and a member of the Drexel faculty for 27 years, died October 6 in Baltimore after a long illness. Law joined the Drexel faculty as an instructor in the undergraduate library science curriculum in 1922. She became vice-director of the library school in 1925 and was named dean of the school and director of the library in 1937. Under her guidance the Drexel library science program changed from an undergraduate to a graduate degree program in 1949, the year of her retirement.

GEORGE A. SCHWEGMANN, JR., retired chief of the Union Catalog Division of the Library of Congress, died on September 28. ■■

Publications

RECEIVED

(Selected items will be reviewed in future issues of College & Research Libraries.)

• A report by Kendon Stubbs for the Committee on ARL Statistics, The ARL Library Index and Quantitative Relationships in the ARL (Association of Research Libraries, November, 1980), explains the derivation and implications of the ARL Library Index in detail.

• In Power, Politics and Print: The Publication of the British Museum Catalog, 1181-1900 (Linnet Books, 1981, $17.50), Barbara McCrimmon recounts for the first time the struggles of Edward Augustus Bond and Richard Garnett, the librarians responsible for this catalog—the first national library catalog to be published and therefore made available to other libraries.

• The purpose of Progress in Communication Sciences (Ablex Publishing Corporation, 1980, $32.50), the second in an annual series, is to "provide the reader with high quality state of the art reviews of thought and research." Each review focuses on one or more of the following: 1) information, information transfer, and information systems; 2) the uses and effects of communications; and 3) the control and regulation of communications and information.

• "Most" of the online search facilities available have been described in a general fashion "so that readers may acquire an overall view of the range available to them" in Online Searching: An Introduction (Butterworth & Co., 1980, $31.95)

by W. M. Henry, J. A. Leigh, L. A. Tedd and P. W. Williams. A general overview of online searching, including the scope of services and databases and equipment required; a detailed description of search facilities and techniques, including information about database structure; a discussion of the role of the intermediary; details of management aspects; and a description of aids and methods for education and training.

• Management of Library Networks: Policy Analysis, Implementation and Control, by William R. Rouse and Sandra H. Rouse (John Wiley & Sons, Inc., 1980, $25.95), presents a methodology for the analysis of resource-sharing library networks and illustrates how this methodology has been applied in several case studies.

• An Overview of Videodisc Technology and Some Potential Applications in the Library, Information, and Instructional Sciences, by R. Kent Wood and Robert D. Woolley (ERIC Clearinghouse, 1980), is based upon the Utah State University Videodisc Innovation Projects and includes descriptions of major marketed videodisc systems and those soon to be marketed.

• Cataloging of Audiovisual Materials: A Manual Based on AACR 2 by Nancy B. Olsen (Minnesota Scholarly Press, 1981, $17.50 softcover) presents photographs of a variety of audiovisual items typically ordered by libraries. Each photograph is accompanied by a comprehensive explanation for correct cataloging.

• A collection of 14 essays written by Raynard Coe Swank between 1944 and 1974 have been edited by David W. Heron under the title A Unifying Influence: Essays of Raynard Coe Swank (The Scarecrow Press, 1981, $13.50). Swank was director of libraries at Stanford University and the University of Oregon and a professor and dean at the University of California School of Library and Information Studies at Berkeley.

- The proceedings of the August 1980 Australian Advisory Council on Bibliographical Services (AACOBS) in Sydney have been published as Networks Study no. 16 in the Development of Resource Sharing Networks Series of the National Library of Australia (1980). Bibliographical Services to the Nation: The Next Decade, edited by D. H. Borchardt and John Thawley for the AACOBS Working Party on Bibliography, is available at $9.75 from the Sales and Subscriptions Unit, National Library of Australia.

- Defending Intellectual Freedom: The Library and the Censor (Contributions in Librarianship and Information Science, No. 32) is a collection of previously published essays by Eli M. Oboler, available at $22.95 through Greenwood Press, Westport, Connecticut (1980). Oboler, former university librarian at Idaho State University in Pocatello, examines political and "moral" censorship and attempts to "explain the ways librarians and those interested in libraries can combat the censor and fulfill their responsibility to the reading public."

- The proceedings of the 1980 joint Aslib/IIS/LA Conference at Sheffield have been compiled by The Library Association, London, in The Nationwide Provision and Use of Information, available at $31.25 from the Oryx Press, Phoenix, Arizona (1981).

- Rudolf Engelbarts' bibliography, Librarian Authors (McFarland & Company, 1981, $21.95), lists names and works of 108 men and women who were (or are) authors as well as outstanding librarians. The book is divided into three sections: the first lists six men who lived during the period of 1600 to 1800; the second covers the 19th century and the first half of the 20th; and the third discusses the contemporary scene.

- A "library survival kit" for graduate students titled Keys to Library Research on the Graduate Level: A Guide to Guides by Harvey R. Gover of Tarleton State University (University Press of America, 1981, $5.25) is intended to enable students to fully utilize campus library resources and to give them a sense of independence in their library work.

- A task force of the Bibliographic Service Development Program of the Council on Library Resources has published Requirements Statement for the Name Authority File Service (April 1981). This document "describes the background and rationale for a name authority file service for the nation's libraries, and the steps being taken to make that service a reality."

- The City University of New York Report of the Task Force on Libraries (December 1980) is the result of 16 months of intermittent study and discussion. While some important revisions have been made that take account of comments and criticisms from those who read the preliminary draft of March 3, 1980, the basic findings and recommendations of that report are now reaffirmed here. The report recommends "a phased, five-year development program to organize and develop a unified library system in which the college libraries will retain local autonomy and the (city) University will provide funds and leadership for University-wide programs."

- Viewdata and Videotext, 1980-81: A Worldwide Report (Knowledge Industry Publications, 1980, $75), is the transcript of Viewdata '80, the first world conference on viewdata, videotex and teletex held in London in March 1980.

- Theory and Practice in Library Education: The Teaching-Learning Process, by Joe Moorhead of the School of Library and Information Science, State University of New York, Albany (Libraries Unlimited, 1980, $17.50 U.S., $21 elsewhere), is "an exploration of a perennial issue in professional education generally and library education specifically: the problem of theory and practice in the instructional process." The study addresses the problem of theory and practice in selected professions such as medicine, engineering, law, social work; examines library education specifically; looks at modes of instruction in library education and the merits of library-centered library education.

- Grant Money and How to Get It: A Handbook for Librarians, by Richard W. Boss, senior consultant at Information Systems, Inc., Maryland (R. R. Bowker & Co., 1980, $19.95), attempts to assist librarians and library staff in competing for grant funds.

- Building Library Collections: Policies and Practices in Academic Libraries, by Hugh F. Cline and Lorraine T. Sinnott (D. C. Heath and Company, 1981) analyzes collection development policies and practices in seven academic libraries, drawing on two theoretical perspectives: analyses of the structure and function of complex organizations and analyses of resource allocation.

- The University Library in the United States: Its Origins and Development (University of Pennsylvania Press, 1981, $25) by Arthur Hamlin, professor and director of libraries, emeritus, at Temple University, is written for the academician outside the library profession who is a user of libraries and interested in them.

- In The Sources of Western Literacy: The Middle Eastern Civilizations (Greenwood Press, 1980, $25), author Felix Reichmann, professor emeritus at Cornell University, presents the Middle Eastern influences on European culture. Antiquity is represented by Mesopotamia and Egypt; the Middle Ages are covered by Byzantium and the Arab Empire. ■■

LITA AWARD

Nominations are sought for the Library and Information Technology Association's Award for Achievement in Library and Information Technology. The award is intended to recognize distinguished leadership, notable development or application of technology, superior accomplishments in research or education, or original contributions to the literature of the field.

The award may be given to an individual or to a small group of individuals working in collaboration. Organized institutions or parts of organized institutions are not eligible.

Nominations for the award may be made by any member of the American Library Association and should be submitted by January 15, 1982, to Hank Epstein, LITA Awards Committee Chairperson, 1992 Lemnos Drive, Costa Mesa, CA 92626. ■■

ACRL Nonprint Media Publications Series

The ACRL Nonprint Media Publications Editorial Board invites submission of material for inclusion in the ACRL Nonprint Media Publications Series.

Audiocassette programs, slide-tape packages, or videotapes that are of interest to the ACRL membership and deal with such topics as library instruction, personnel management, instructional development, or similar topics, should be sent to Jean W. Farrington, Editor, Van Pelt Library, University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, PA 19104. Inquiries about the ACRL Nonprint Media Publications board and its activities may also be directed to the same address.

*** LATE NEWS RELEASE ***

Richard D. Johnson has been appointed acting editor of Choice magazine and will be on leave from his permanent position as director of libraries at the State University College, Oneonta, New York. He was editor of C&RL, 1974-80, and program chair for the First National ACRL Conference, Boston, 1978.

Classified Advertising

Deadlines: Orders for regular classified advertisements must reach the ACRL office on or before the second of the month preceding publication of the issue (e.g., September 2 for the October issue). Late job listings will be accepted on a space-available basis after the second of the month.

Rates: Classified advertisements are $4.00 per line for ACRL members, $5.00 for others. Late job notices are $10.00 per line for members, $12.00 per line for others. Organizations submitting ads will be charged according to their membership status.

Telephone: All telephone orders should be confirmed by a written order mailed to ACRL headquarters as soon as possible. Orders should be accompanied by a typewritten copy of the ad to be used in proofreading. An additional $10 will be charged for ads taken over the phone (except late job notices or display ads).

Guidelines: For ads which list an application deadline, that date must be no sooner than the last day of the month in which the notice appears (e.g., October 31 for the October issue). All job announcements must include a salary figure. Job announcements will be edited to exclude discriminatory references. Applicants should be aware that the terms faculty rank and status vary in meaning among institutions.

JOBLINE: Call (312) 944-6795 for late-breaking job ads for academic and research library positions. A prerecorded summary of positions listed with the service is revised weekly; each Friday a new tape includes all ads received by 1:00 p.m. the previous day. Each listing submitted will be carried on the recording for two weeks. The charge for each two-week listing is $30 for ACRL members and $35 for non-members.

Fast Job Listing Service: A special newsletter for those actively seeking positions. The service lists job postings received at ACRL headquarters four weeks before they appear in C&RL News, as well as ads which, because of narrow application deadlines, will not appear in C&RL News. The cost of a six-month subscription is $10 for ACRL members and $15 for non-members.

Contact: Classified Advertising Dept., ACRL, American Library Association, 50 E. Huron St., Chicago, IL 60611; (312) 944-6780.
