Drucker to Address ACRL at San Francisco

Peter Drucker, noted author and management consultant, will address the Association of College and Research Libraries at its principal program meeting at the 1975 ALA Annual Conference in San Francisco.

Management and governance are among the most critical issues facing academic libraries today. Can academic libraries be governed in such a way as to provide an adequate working environment and adequate rewards for those who work in them and, at the same time, to respond adequately to the needs of their users?

The problems posed by this question are complex. They reflect the tensions generated by the pressure for full faculty status for academic librarians, the movement toward unionism, demands for more accountability from agencies outside the library, stable or declining budgets, and the increasing willingness of library administrators to embrace new management techniques developed primarily by and for business and industry.

Drucker, well known as a consultant for business and industry, will turn his attention at the San Francisco conference to The Management of Public Service Institutions. The issues he will address are crucial to all types of libraries, making this a major program event for the entire ALA conference.

Drucker's paper will be presented Monday, June 30, at 2:00 p.m., and will be followed by a question and answer period. ACRL's membership meeting will follow the program.

COLLECTIVE BARGAINING

ACRL's Academic Status Committee will sponsor a preconference in San Francisco at the San Francisco Hilton, June 27 and 28, on Collective Bargaining in Higher Education: Its Implications for Governance and Faculty Status for Librarians. The program is part of the committee's continuing effort to provide information and materials that will help librarians in understanding and evaluating status and governance issues.

Because many students of the academic scene view collective bargaining as a critically important and rapidly growing phenomenon in governance in higher education, it is imperative that librarians be acquainted with the characteristics of this phenomenon and with alternative ways of dealing with it.

Donald Wollett, director of employee relations for the State of New York and formerly professor at the School of Law at the University of California, Davis, will describe the nature of collective bargaining and its relationship to governance in higher education. A survey of experience in academic collective bargaining will be provided by Dr. Kenneth Mortimer, professor at the Center for the Study of Higher Education at Pennsylvania State University.

Dr. Jean Kennelly, assistant professor of library science at the University of Washington, will report on the current status of academic librarians' involvement in collective bargaining; and Gwendolyn Cruzat, assistant professor of library science at the University of Michigan, will discuss issues and strategies for academic librarians.

Preconference participants will also hear presentations made by representatives of collective bargaining agents (AAUP, AFT, NEA), by advocates of an unaffiliated local unit, and by advocates of no collective bargaining.

Registrations will be accepted until June 1 and only upon payment of the fee, which is $35.00 for ALA personal members and $40.00 for nonmembers. Additional information and registration materials may be obtained from Beverly P. Lynch, Executive Secretary, ACRL, 50 E. Huron St., Chicago, IL 60611.

LEGISLATION

The Law and Political Science Section of ACRL will present a program on Thursday, July 3, 10:00 a.m.-12:00 noon, on Libraries and the Legislative Process. Eileen D. Cooke, director of the ALA Washington Office, will describe the role and function of the American Library Association in its dealings with the U.S.

Congress. Roger H. McDonough, New Jersey state librarian, will cover activities of the state library in securing an effective legislative library program at the state level. Clarence R. Walters, Contra Costa County (California) librarian, will present the ingredients of a successful library program in relation to local legislative bodies. Dan F. Henke, law librarian at Hastings College of the Law, University of California, and chairman of the Law and Political Science Section, will serve as moderator of the program.

ACCREDITATION

Dr. Kenneth E. Young, president of the Council on Postsecondary Accreditation, will speak at a program meeting of the ACRL College Libraries Section, Wednesday, July 2, 2:00-4:00 p.m. Young will discuss Academic Libraries and the Accreditation Process: how the accrediting associations view and use the standards written by professional organizations in their evaluations of institutions.

EIGHTEENTH-CENTURY ENGLISH BOOKS

The sixteenth annual preconference of the ACRL Rare Books and Manuscripts Section will be held in San Francisco, at the Hyatt House on Union Square, June 25-28. The theme is Eighteenth-Century English Books Considered by Librarians and Booksellers, Bibliographers, and Collectors.

The keynote address of the preconference will be delivered by William B. Todd, professor of English at the University of Texas at Austin and editor of the papers of the Bibliographical Society of America. John W. Jolliffe, the keeper of catalogs at the Bodleian Library, Oxford University, and director of Project LOC, and William J. Cameron, dean of the School of Library and Information Science at the University of Western Ontario and director of the HPB Project, will discuss the eighteenth-century short-title catalog.

APPRAISING

G. Thomas Tanselle, professor of English at the University of Wisconsin-Madison, and Donald D. Eddy, associate professor of English and librarian of the Department of Rare Books at Cornell University, will examine the problems of bibliographical description. Patricia Hernlund, professor of English at Wayne State University, will address the problems of editing manuscript ledgers; and Donald F. Bond, professor emeritus of English at the University of Chicago, will address the problems of editing periodical essays.

Eighteenth-century English books will also be considered from the point of view of the bookseller—Robert J. Barry, Jr., of C. A. Stonehill's, New Haven, Connecticut, and president of A.B.A.A.; from the point of view of the collector—William P. Barlow, Jr., collector of the works printed by John Baskerville; and bookseller—Robert J. Barry, Jr., of C. A. from the point of view of the librarian—Alexandra Mason, assistant director of libraries and special collections librarian at the Spencer Research Library of the University of Kansas. The preconference summary will be provided by Herman W. Liebert, librarian emeritus of the Beinecke Rare Book and Manuscript Library at Yale University.

Preconference participants will visit the University of California at Berkeley, to tour the Bancroft Library, to dine at the Faculty Club, and to hear a talk on music bibliography presented by Vincent H. Duckles, professor and music librarian at Berkeley. The Berkeley Campus Musicians will entertain using instruments from the collection. Participants will also visit local bookshops and special collections in San Francisco.

Registrations will be accepted until June 1 and only upon payment of the fee, which is $90.00 for ALA personal members and $100.00 for nonmembers. Additional information and registration materials may be obtained from Beverly P. Lynch, Executive Secretary, ACRL, 50 E. Huron St., Chicago, IL 60611.

PAPERS OF PUBLIC OFFICIALS

The Rare Books and Manuscripts Section will also present two program meetings during the conference week, on Sunday, June 29. At 2:00 p.m., the RBMS Committee on Manuscripts Collections will sponsor a discussion on the Ownership of the Papers of Public Officials.

At 4:30 p.m. on Sunday, the Rare Books and Manuscripts Section will present a program on Gifts and Appraisals for Libraries. Lee Ash, library consultant, will preside over a panel which will comprise dealers, appraisers, collectors, and donors.

TWO-YEAR COLLEGE LIBRARIES

The ACRL Community and Junior College Libraries Section will focus its attention on problems facing two-year colleges. The conference-within-a-conference, called It's Problematical, will be held on Sunday, June 29, 8:30 a.m.–6:00 p.m. Dr. John E. Tirrell, vice-president for governmental affairs for the American Association of Community and Junior Colleges, will examine the problems of government funding. Jo Ellen Flagg, chairman of the CJCLS Instruction and Use Committee, will discuss the problem of library instruction in two-year colleges. Hal C. Stone, dean of education at Los Angeles City College and a past chairman of the Community and Junior College Libraries Section, will present his observations on education overseas. The problem of library curriculum and development will be addressed by panelists from a variety of community and junior colleges.

Advanced registration is required. The fee of $12.00 includes lunch and must be prepaid. Registrations will be accepted until June 12. For registration materials, contact Iole Matteucig, Director of Library Services, City College of San Francisco, 50 Phelan Ave., San Francisco, CA 94112.

6 reasons why you should be using MicroVox™

REEL - CARTRIDGE STORAGE

1. The new MicroVox offers a low cost storage method for handling either 12-16mm or 8-35mm reels or cartridges of microfilm.
2. Identification is made easy through the use of a label holder on the spine with label stock provided.
3. The storage of film in MicroVox on your existing shelving avoids the need for expensive microfilm cabinets.
4. The inconvenience of two locations, one for film and the other for hardcopy, is eliminated.
5. Its book cover design allows for the maximum use of the depth of your shelving, thus handling more reels of cartridges in less space.
6. Covers are 9x9x4 1/4" wide and made from bookcloth over binders board with specially wrapped chipboard trays securely mounted to the cover. Vacuum formed inserts are adhered within the trays to provide the separations for 16mm or 35mm cartridges or reels.
