

Study (Marcel Dekker, 1983, $38.50) reports on developments around the globe. Based on the work of researchers well versed in regional affairs, this volume analyzes the current state of librarianship and predicts the future course of development, providing valuable insight into this important field.

• Communicating Public Access to Government Information (Meckler, 1982, $35) contains eight original papers which were presented at the Second Annual Government Documents and Information Conference held March 26–27, 1982, in Arlington, Virginia. Edited and introduced by conference chair Peter Hernon, the volume includes writers Bernardine E. Abbott Hoduski, Joseph F. Caponio, R. Brain Land, Kathleen M. Heim, Charles A. Seavey, Michael L. Tate, Peter Hernon and Charles McClure, John V. Richardson, Jr., and Gary R. Purcell.

• Financial Planning for Libraries (Haworth, 1983, $20) provides practical information on major budgetary and financing problems of academic and public libraries, including new approaches to salary planning, interlibrary loan and resource sharing, and collection management.

• Teaching Library Use Competence: Bridging the Gap from High School to College (Pierian, 1983, $16.95) consists of papers presented at the Eleventh Annual Library Instruction Conference held at Eastern Michigan University in May, 1981. The papers presented at this conference and collected in this volume include: a discussion of whether or not the entering college student is prepared to use libraries and what could be done to establish a link in the library instruction chain; the state of library user instruction in United Kingdom schools; a media center testing specialist and two academic librarians sharing their expertise on testing as a method for assessing library skills at three different educational levels.

• The long-awaited third edition of Introduction to United States Public Documents (Libraries Unlimited, 1983, $28.50 cloth) has been extensively revised to include many of the changes that have occurred in the production and distribution of government information. Like previous editions, this work offers an introduction to the basic sources of information that comprise the bibliographic structure of federal government publications. New or expanded material includes the continual growth and evolution of the Monthly Catalog of United States Government Publications, the significant changes in the format and distribution of the Congressional Serial Set, a detailed account of the legislative process, including private legislation, the 1980 census, and the proliferation of online databases and microform collections covering federal documentation. ■■

THE CLASSIFIED ADS

Deadlines: Orders for regular classified advertisements must reach the ACRL office on or before the second of the month preceding publication of the issue (e.g. September 2 for the October issue). Late job listings will be accepted on a space-available basis after the second of the month.

Rates: Classified advertisements are $4.00 per line for ACRL members, $5.00 for others. Late job notices are $10.00 per line for members, $12.00 for others. Organizations submitting ads will be charged according to their membership status.

Telephone: All telephone orders should be confirmed by a written order mailed to ACRL headquarters as soon as possible. Orders should be accompanied by a typewritten copy of the ad to be used in proofreading. An additional $10 will be charged for ads taken over the phone (except late job notices or display ads).

Guidelines: For ads which list an application deadline, that date must be no sooner than the last day of the month in which the notice appears (e.g., October 31 for the October issue). All job announcements should include a salary figure. Job announcements will be edited to exclude discriminatory references. Applicants should be aware that the terms faculty rank and status vary in meaning among institutions.

JOBLINE: Call (312) 944-6795 for late-breaking job ads for academic and research library positions. A pre-recorded summary of positions listed with the service is revised weekly; each Friday a new tape includes all ads received by 1:00 p.m. the previous day. Each listing submitted will be carried on the recording for two weeks. The charge for each two-week listing is $30 for ACRL members and $35 for non-members.

Fast Job Listing Service: A special newsletter for those actively seeking positions. This service lists job postings received at ACRL headquarters four weeks before they appear in C&RL News, as well as ads which, because of narrow deadlines, will not appear in C&RL News. The cost of a six-month subscription is $10 for ACRL members and $15 for non-members.

Contact: Classified Advertising Dep't, ACRL, American Library Association, 50 E. Huron St., Chicago, IL 60611; (312) 944-6780.
