
• P EOPLE •

Profiles

NEAL BENEZRA, a curator in the department of 20th-century painting and sculpture at the Art Institute of Chicago, has been appointed chief curator at the Smithsonian Institution's Hirshhorn Museum and Sculpture Garden in Washington, D.C., effective in early 1992. Benezra joined the Art Institute in 1985 as an associate curator then became a full curator two years later. Before that he was curator at the Des Moines Art Center in Iowa. A native of Northern California, Benezra earned simultaneous bachelor's degrees in art history and political science at the University of California at Berkeley in 1976, and a doctorate in art history from Stanford University in 1983. He has published widely, won a number of fellowships, and served on numerous panels and advisory committees (for the National Endowment for the Humanities, Sculpture Chicago, and other organizations).

SCOTT DRONE-SILVERS has been named director of the Learning Resource Center at Lake Land College in Mattoon, Illinois. Drone-Silvers recently earned his MLS at the University of Illinois at Champaign-Urbana, and has a bachelor's in secondary education from the University of Missouri, Kansas City. He is a member of ALA, the Special Library Association, and Phi Alpha Theta, a national honor society for history.

Scott Drone-Silvers

DAVID L. EASTERBROOK has been appointed curator of the Melville J. Herskovits Library of African Studies at Northwestern University, effective December 1991. Since 1986 Easterbrook has been principal bibliographer at the University of Illinois at Chicago, and serving as bibliographer for professional studies there for seven years. Before that he served as African studies area specialist at Indiana University and African bibliographer at Syracuse University. Easterbrook holds a B.A. in history from Kalamazoo College and an MLS from the State University of New York at Albany. He has been an active member of ALA, ACRL, and the African Studies Association serving as chair of the Asian and African Section of ACRL and chair of the Archives-Libraries Committee of the African Studies Association. The author of many publications, Easterbrook was the recipient of the 1989 Fulbright Award for study at the School of Oriental and African Studies at the University of London.

SALLIE H. ELLISON has been named director of Purdy/Kresge Library and Media Services at Wayne State University (WSU) in Detroit, Michigan. Ellison joined WSU as assistant director of the Library in 1989, then was appointed acting director in 1990. Before that, she was manager of information services for the Industrial Technology Institute in Ann Arbor, Michigan, and research librarian for General Motors Research Laboratories. She received her MLS from Drexel University and her bachelor's in political science from Fisk University. Ellison is a member of ALA and the Special Libraries Association. She is a past-president of the Michigan Database Users Group and currently serves on the Committee for Social Issues of the American Council of Research Libraries and on WSU's Minority Faculty Host Committee.

Sallie H. Ellison

DEBRA GILCHRIST has been named director of the Pierce College Library in Tacoma, Washington. She previously worked as reference librarian and head of bibliographic instruction at Pacific Lutheran University Library, and in reference and bibliographic instruction at South Dakota University Library.

JULIE JOHNSON MCGOWAN, associate director of the School of Medicine Library at the University of South Carolina for the past 13 years, has been appointed director of the Dana Medical Library at the University of Vermont, Burlington, effective October 1, 1991. McGowan has also worked as coordinator of technical services in the School of Medicine Library at the University of South Carolina, and on the staffs of the University of South Alabama and the Tampa Public Library. She received her bachelor's degree from Randolph Macon Woman's College in Lynchburg, Virginia; her MLS from the University of Maryland; her master's in art history specializing in medical iconography and her doctorate in higher education administration from the University of South Carolina.

RICHARD W. MEYER, associate library director at Clemson University, has been appointed director of the Elizabeth Coates Maddux Library at Trinity University, San Antonio, Texas. Meyer earned a B.A. in library science and B.S. in chemistry from the University of Missouri; an MLS from the University of Illinois; and an M.A. in economics from Clemson University. His previous positions include assistant librarian at the Savannah River Laboratory of E.I. DuPont de Nemours Company in Aiken, South Carolina; assistant library director for technical services at the University of Dallas; and director of library technical services at Indiana State University in Terre Haute. Active in the University Libraries Section of ACRL, Meyer has published articles on automation and management in various academic journals. He is a founding board member of the Higher Education Network Association in South Carolina.

Richard W. Meyer

LAURENE E. ZAPOROZHETZ has been appointed director of the Noel Memorial Library at Louisiana State University in Shreveport, effective October 1, 1991. Zaporozhetz holds a B.A. from Michigan State University, an MLS from Western Michigan University, and a Ph.D. in education from the University of Oregon. Her career includes serving most recently as director of the Tampa Campus Library at the University of South Florida and positions at the Massachusetts Bureau of Library Extension, the University of Nebraska at Omaha, the University of Oregon, and Bowling Green State University. Active in ACRL, Zaporozhetz has held many committee positions and was chair of the Education and Behavioral Sciences Section. She is currently a member of the Board of Examiners for the National Council for the Accreditation for Teacher Education, and is an active speaker and author in areas of the behavioral sciences and customer service theory and application.

People in the news

RICHARD M. DOUGHERTY, a professor at the University of Michigan School of Information and Library Studies, was awarded the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters honoris causa in recognition of his scholarship, leadership, and service to the international community of libraries by Purdue University at its commencement in May. Dougherty is past-president of ALA.

SHIRLEY FITZGIBBONS, associate professor in the School of Library and Information Science at Indiana University, has been elected chair of the International Federation of Library Associations' (IFLA) Section on Children's Libraries. An invited speaker at IFLA's 57th Council and General Conference in Moscow in August, her presentation focused on the factors that contribute to reading motivation among middle grade school children.

JAMES D. FOLTS, LARRY HACKMAN, and JUDY HOHMANN of the New York State Archives and Records Administration were the recipients of the Society of American Archivists' Philip M. Hamer/Elizabeth Hamer Kegan Award for the program of activities they initiated to increase public awareness of the records of the New York Supreme Court. The centerpiece of their work is a history and finding aid titled Duely and Constantly Kept: A History of the New York Supreme Court, 1691-1847, and an Inventory of Its Records, written by Folts, and published jointly by the New York State Archives and the New York State Court of Appeals. Hackman is the director of the New York State Archives and Records Administration, Folts is an associate archivist there, and Hohmann is a senior public and education program specialist. The award was presented in Philadelphia in September.

CHARLES A. HAMAKER, assistant dean for collection development at the Louisiana State University Libraries in Baton Rouge, was presented with the Alumni Award of the School of Library and Information Sciences of Brigham Young University. The award was given in recognition of Hamaker's service to libraries in collection development and to acknowledge service that exemplifies professional and personal excellence.

BARBARA HANER, science reference librarian at the University of California, Riverside, was named the winner of the Geoscience Information Society's (GIS) 1991 Best Paper Award for her paper "Guidebook Citation Patterns in the Geologic Journal Literature: A Comparison between 1985 and 1967" (GIS Proceedings, volume 20, pp. 159-69, 1990). She was presented with the award at the GIS annual conference in San Diego in October.

BRIAN LAND, director of the Ontario Legislative Library (OLL) and member of the University of Toronto (UT) Faculty of Library and Information Science, was awarded the Canadian Association of Special Libraries and Information Services' 1991 Award for Special Librarianship. Land was cited for his work as executive director of the OLL, for his work with the Association of Parliamentary Librarians in Canada, and for his reference source, The Directory of Associations in Canada. Land received his B.A., M.A., BLS, and MLS from the University of Toronto. After holding positions with the Toronto Public Library and the University of Toronto Library, where he rose to the rank of associate chief librarian, Land became director of the UT School of Library Science in 1964.

MARY ROBINSON, a student in the Wayne State University (WSU) Library Science Program, was awarded this year's Baker & Taylor/Michigan Library Association (MLA) Grass Roots award. The cash prize of $250 funded her attendance at the MLA conference in October. Another WSU student, Joanne Venetos Dallis, was chosen as an award alternate.

DEBORA SHAW, associate professor at the Indiana University School of Library and Information Science, has been appointed associate editor of Hypermedia, a leading international research journal devoted to practical and theoretical developments in hypertext, hypermedia, interactive multimedia systems, and related areas. It is published three times a year by Taylor Graham of London and Los Angeles. Shaw is currently director-at-large of the American Society for Information Science and brings to her new assignment considerable research experience in interface design, information retrieval, and database management.

BOBBIE SMITH, head librarian and coordinator of libraries at Long Beach City College, California, has been elected the 1991-92 president of the Board of Education of the 75,000-student Long Beach Unified School District. She was elected to the governing board of the school district in 1988, and is the first African-American member and president in the district's 106-year history. Smith earned her bachelor's degree from Eureka College, Illinois, and her MLS from the University of Illinois. She is a member of ALA and the California Library Association; past-president of the Academic Senate and of the City College Teachers Association; a member of the Long Beach City College Planning Council; and served for four years on the California Teachers Association State Council. An active life member of the NAACP and executive board member of the Long Beach branch, Smith is also a past executive board member and parliamentarian of the National Council of Negro Women. She is the recipient of many awards and honors including the Mary McLeod Bethune Award from the National Council of Negro Women, a U.S. Navy award and citation as a role model and pacesetter, a National Education Association Award for significant contributions to national political action on behalf of public education, and the Masonic Lodges Meritorious Service to Public Education Award.

Bobbie Smith

KATHY TEZLA, social sciences coordinator for collections and technical services in the General Libraries of Emory University, has received a Fulbright scholar grant to support her research in the Szechenyi National Library in Budapest, Hungary. Tezla will spend three months this fall consulting the extensive collection of American-Hungarian immigrant newspapers to complete an edition of documents dealing with female immigrants who came to the U.S. from Hungary between 1895 and 1920. The Corvina Publishing House in Budapest will publish the work in English translation.

WILLIAM D. WALKER, associate director for the New York Public Library Science, Industry and Business Library, has been named Astor Fellow for 1991-92 by library president Timothy S. Healy. During his tenure, Walker will develop a public service model to meet the increasingly sophisticated information needs of the scientific and business communities. The model will specifically address the innovations in information technology in the next century. Walker's experience in the field includes positions as director of the Medical Library Center of New York and head of information services at the University of Illinois Medical Center. He holds an MLS from the University of Michigan and is a member of Beta Phi Mu, the national library science honor society. He has published numerous articles on library technology. The Astor Fellowship was established in 1982 through a $1 million gift from the Vincent Astor Foundation and supports the development of special projects and innovative programs.

ANN BAKER WARD, head of the Interlibrary Center at the North Carolina State University (NCSU) Libraries in Raleigh, has been selected to participate in the university's Language/Cultural/Professional/Development Program, a collaborative project of the U.S. Agency for International Development, Florida A&M University, and NCSU aimed at providing faculty with an opportunity to gain knowledge of another culture and competency in another language. Ward will spend three months, from January to March 1992, in Togo, a country in western Africa, receiving intensive French-language instruction and attending lectures on U.S. assistance efforts for economic and social development. Her participation in the program will help her learn more about the information resources needed to support research in tropical areas.

NANCY WILLIAMSON, professor in the University of Toronto Library and Information Science program, was honored as the Distinguished Academic Librarian of the Year for 1991 by the Canadian Association of College and University Libraries at its annual meeting in Montreal in June. Williamson was cited for her achievements as a teacher and as a researcher in classification and subject access to information in online retrieval systems. She recently chaired the 5th International Study Conference on Classification Research in Toronto, and is currently chair of the Committee on Classification Research of the International Federation for Information and Documentation. She received her B.A. from Mount Allison University, a BLS and MLS from the University of Toronto, and a Ph.D. from Case Western Reserve University.

Appointments

(Appointment notices are taken from library newsletters, letters from personnel offices and appointees, and other sources. To ensure that your appointment appears, write to the Editor, C&RL News, 50 E. Huron St., Chicago, IL 60611-2795.)

LESLI A. BAKER has been named reference/bibliographic instruction librarian at Southwest Texas State University in San Marcos.

JALA BARRETT is returning to the Association of Research Libraries, Washington, D.C. as director of the Office of Research and Development.

CARL E. BENGSTON has been named director of the Archbishop Alemany Library at Dominican College of San Rafael, California.

KATHIE BRINKERHOFF is now business reference librarian at the University of Oregon Eugene.

NANCY BUTKOVICH has been named head of the Physical Sciences Library at Penn State University, University Park.

SHELLEY H. CHILDRESS is now catalog librarian at St. Andrews Presbyterian College, Laurinburg, North Carolina.

SHARON COLLINS has been named serials cataloger at the State University of New York at Stony Brook.

JOHN COOKSON has been appointed head of the Engineering Section at the National Library Service for the Blind and Physically Handicapped, Washington, D.C.

BRIAN E. COUTTS has been appointed head of the Department of Library Public Services at Western Kentucky University, Bowling Green.

PRUDENCE DALRYMPLE has been named director of the ALA Office for Accreditation at the ALA headquarters in Chicago, Illinois.

GLADYS DRATCH is now the collection development librarian at Gutman Library, Harvard University, Cambridge, Massachusetts.

SUE EASUN has been appointed lecturer at the University of Toronto School of Library and Information Science, Ontario, Canada.

CYNTHIA EKin has been named government services supervisor at Western Kentucky University, Bowling Green.

DEG FARRELLY has been appointed media resources specialist at Arizona State University West, Phoenix.

LAURA FARWELL has been promoted to specialist for user bibliographies and databases in the Research Services Division of the Widener Library, Harvard University.

JUDITH J. FIELD has been appointed lecturer at the Wayne State University Library Science Program, Detroit, Michigan.

ARTURO FLORES has been named head of reference services at the University of California, Santa Cruz.

DIANE L. GARNER has been appointed head of the Government Documents and Non-book Formats Division of the College Library at Harvard University, Cambridge, Massachusetts.

EDWARD GONZALEZ has been appointed research support services librarian at Arizona State University West, Phoenix.

LYNN GULLICKSON is now acting recorded sound services cataloger in the Music Library at Northwestern University, Evanston, Illinois.

LOLA HALPIN has been named serials/microfilm cataloger in the General Libraries of Emory University, Atlanta, Georgia.

JEFFREY R. HAMMOND has been named catalog librarian at the Earl Gregg Swem Library, College of William and Mary, Williamsburg, Virginia.

PAT HAWTHORNE has been named administrative projects librarian at the University of Texas Health Science Center at San Antonio Library.

MARGARET HENDLEY has been appointed head of the Dana Porter Reference and Collections Development Department at the University of Waterloo, Ontario, Canada.

ELAINE HOFFMAN has been named serials acquisitions librarian at the State University of New York at Stony Brook.

RUTH HOPKINSON joined the Countway Library of Medicine, Harvard University, as a part-time reference librarian.

DENNIS ISBELL is now research support services librarian at Arizona State University West, Phoenix.

WILL JARVIS is now head of the Acquisitions/Serials Unit at Washington State University Libraries, Pullman.

CLAUDIA KAUFMAN is the new teaching learning center/microcomputer services librarian at the University of Texas Health Science Center, San Antonio.

MARY LYNN KINGSTON has been named member services coordinator at the Pittsburgh Regional Library Center, Pennsylvania.

BRETT KIRKPATRICK has been named director of the Moody Medical Library at the University of Texas Medical Branch, Galveston.

ROGER KOHN has been appointed Stanford University's first Reinhard Family Curator of Judaica and Hebraica Collections.

MERRI BETH LAVAGNINO has been appointed Systems Department head at the Bailey/Howe Library, University of Vermont, Burlington.

MARVIN LEAVY is now coordinator of collection development at Western Kentucky University, Bowling Green.

STEPHEN MARK MCFARLAND has been appointed reference librarian in the Undergraduate Library of the University of Texas at Austin.

THOMAS P. MCGINN has been appointed lecturer at the Wayne State University Library Science Program, Detroit, Michigan.

ANNE MCKEE is now bibliographic services librarian at Arizona State University West, Phoenix.

CATHERINE J. MCKINNEY has been appointed Brady-Green information services librarian at the University of Texas Health Science Center at San Antonio Library.

FELICE MACIEJEWSKI has been appointed head of circulation at Howard-Tilton Memorial Library, Tulane University, New Orleans, Louisiana.

FRANCIS O. MATTSON has been appointed curator of the Henry W. and Albert A. Berg Collection of English and American Literature at the New York Public Library, New York, New York.

CHRISTOPHER MILLSON-MARTULA has been named assistant director for administrative services at Arizona State University West, Phoenix.

ELEANOR MITCHELL has been named information access specialist at Arizona State University West, Phoenix.

ELAINE MOORE is now reference services supervisor at Western Kentucky University, Bowling Green.

BONNIE O'CONNOR is the new information services/hospital librarian at the University of Texas Health Science Center, San Antonio.

SEUNGI PAEK has been promoted to Korean cataloger in the Harvard-Yenching Library, Harvard University.

THOMAS A. PETERS has been named collection development librarian at Mankato State University, Minnesota.

PATRICIA L. PRIETO has joined the Reference Unit of Hunter Library at Western Carolina University in Cullowhee, North Carolina.

LIZBETH RADCLIFFE has been named public services librarian at the Emerson College Library, Boston, Massachusetts.

MARTHA RAMIREZ has been appointed bibliographer for ethnic studies and social sciences at the University of California, Santa Cruz.

LISA REDPATH has been named music librarian at the College of the Holy Cross, Worcester, Massachusetts.

BRIDGET REISCHER has been named bibliographer for Western European and international law in the Law School Library at Harvard University, Cambridge, Massachusetts.

MICHAEL RIDLEY is now associate librarian for systems at the University of Waterloo, Ontario.

CLAUDIA RIVERS has been appointed librarian/archivist in the Mexican American Archival Project at the University of Texas, Austin.

NATANIA ROSENFELD has been named assistant curator of books and manuscripts at the Rosenbach Museum and Library, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

LINDA SIEGEL has been named information services librarian at the University of Texas Health Science Center, San Antonio.

EMMA SIMMONS has been named acquisitions librarian at Corpus Christi State University, Texas.

PAMELA SPOONER has been appointed reference/public outreach librarian at Southwest Texas State University in San Marcos.

CECILIA STAFFORD has been named assistant university librarian for public services at Howard-Tilton Memorial Library, Tulane University, New Orleans, Louisiana.

CYNTHIA TAYLOR has been named reference librarian at the Dana Biomedical Library of Dartmouth College, Hanover, New Hampshire.

DAWN THISTLE is now head of reader services at the College of the Holy Cross, Worcester, Massachusetts.

DANIEL TODD has been named head of collection development at Howard-Tilton Memorial Library, Tulane University, New Orleans, Louisiana.

SHEILA TORRES-BLANK has been named media/special projects cataloger at Wichita State University, Kansas.

OLYA TYMCIUURAK has been named reference librarian at the DePaul University Suburban Campus Libraries, Chicago, Illinois.

KAREN WIELHORSKI has been appointed head of the Central Reference Department at Texas A&M University, College Station.

HUGH WILBURN is now head of public services at the Frances Loeb Library of the Graduate School of Design, Harvard University.

SARA WILLIAMS has been named head of reference at Tulane University, New Orleans, Louisiana.

ELIZABETH WU has been appointed senior systems librarian at the Countway Library of Medicine, Harvard University.

Retirements

CAROLYN BUCKNALL, assistant director for collection development at the University of Texas (UT) at Austin Libraries, retired at the end of September. Bucknall began her career at the UT Library in the early 1950s as a clerical assistant, then worked as a half-time library assistant, and as a serials cataloger. In 1961 she joined the University of Washington, Seattle, staff as a serials cataloger, then joined the University of Massachusetts, Amherst, staff as head of serials acquisition and cataloging. In 1965 she accepted the position of head of the Acquisitions Department at the State University of New York at Binghamton. She returned to UT in 1967 as chief acquisitions librarian and was appointed to her most recent position in 1975. Bucknall received her B.A. in 1953 and her MLS in 1960, both from UT. She has served as chair of the Chief Collection Development Officers of Large Research Libraries, vice chair of ALA's Association for Library Collections and Technical Services (ALCTS) Resources Section, current chair of ALCTS's Collection Management and Development Section, and has served on numerous other committees and subcommittees of ALA and ACRL.

Carolyn Bucknall

JAMES F. GOVAN, university librarian at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, has announced his intention to retire in June of 1992.

DOROTHY LOUISE HAGEDORN, associate university librarian at Tulane University's Howard-Tilton Memorial Library, New Orleans, retired recently after 20 years of service.

JACK LEISTER, head librarian at the Institute of Governmental Studies Library at the University of California, Berkeley, retired in September after more than 30 years of service. On the Berkeley campus Leister served on numerous library standing, advisory, and ad hoc committees and task forces. He served as statewide president for the Librarians Association of the University of California in 1980-81, and was an active participant in the Affiliated Librarians' Administrative Group. Leister was especially active in the Special Libraries Association (SLA), serving on the Board of Directors for five years, on the Finance Committee, as conference planning chair of the Honolulu conference in 1979, and as president of the local chapter in 1976-77. In 1987 Leister was named one of the first Fellows of SLA, recognizing his outstanding contributions to the association and to special libraries. The author of bibliographic works in the field of state and local government, Leister also served on the editorial board of Greenwood Press' Index to Current Urban Documents. He was also instrumental in the inception of Statistical Reference Index, a major index to non-federal statistical data published by private organizations and public agencies in the U.S. In recognition of all his accomplishments, Leister was awarded the university's Distinguished Service Award upon his retirement.

MARY POUND, publications coordinator at the University of Texas (UT) at Austin Libraries, retired in August. She began working at UT in 1955 as physics librarian.

WESLEY SCHRAM, reference librarian at Wayne State University, Detroit, for 22 years, retired in January 1991, but has stayed on in a part-time capacity. He is a member of ALA and ACRL, and has held leadership roles in the Southeast Michigan League of Research Libraries and the Bibliographic Instruction Committee (COBI).

RUTH TAYLOR, librarian at the Shiffman Medical Library of Wayne State University, Detroit, has

Use Bitnet to reach C&RL News

Thanks to Nancy John and the University of Illinois at Chicago, C&RL News has a Bitnet account. If writing, printing, and mailing has been a barrier to your communication with C&RL News try sending your news items, letters, comments, and ideas to C&RL News electronically using our new Bitnet address: U38398@UICVM.bitnet.

announced that she will retire in February 1992. A Shiffman employee since 1969, Taylor served the library in many capacities, including director of the library from 1981-83 and adjunct faculty member to the Library Science Program. She has been an active member of the Metropolitan Detroit Medical Library Group, the Medical Library Association, the Michigan Database Users Group, the Michigan Health Sciences Libraries Association, and the Midwest Chapter of the Medical Library Association.

Deaths

J. TRAVIS LEACH, serials acquisitions librarian at the University of Arizona (UA), Tucson, died in September. He had worked at the library for 19 years. He was first hired as a graduate student assistant in the Catalog Department in 1970, spent a year working at the University of California at Davis, then began his tenure at UA in 1972 as a catalog librarian. He received his B.A. in 1958 and a Ph.D. in 1962 from the University of Louisville, and his MLS from UA in 1971.

MANUEL DENNIS LOPEZ, librarian in the University Libraries of the State University of New York at Buffalo (SUNYAB), died in September at the age of 57. A member of the SUNYAB staff since 1964, Lopez served as curator of library exhibitions, reference librarian at Lockwood Library, and head of the Architecture and Planning Library. His contributions were recognized in 1978 with the SUNY Chancellor's Award for Excellence in Librarianship. Of special importance to Lopez was the support of the university's large international student population, and his orientation to the libraries for international students won national recognition and was featured in C&RL in 1983. An accomplished scholar in librarianship, Lopez recently received notification that his book Chinese Drama: An Annotated Bibliography had been published by Scarecrow Press. He was also the author of New York: A Guide to Information and Reference Sources (1987), and served as the coordinating editor of the 1984 William Hein publication of the Catalog of the Polish Room Collection: Lockwood Memorial Library. Lopez earned his B.A. from Clark University and his MLS from Drexel University.

JUDY MORTON, former head of the Engineering Library at the University of California, Berkeley, died in October. Morton joined the library's staff in 1949 and retired in 1981. She received her MLS from UC Berkeley and served in World War II as a member of the U.S. Marine Corps, WR.

JANE PAIRO, manager of SOLINET's Preservation Program, died in October in Philadelphia while attending the Society of American Archivists Conference. Pairo joined SOLINET in January 1990. Before that she had served as assistant state archivist in Virginia and had more than 20 years experience in education, archives, preservation, and management. She earned her MLS from Catholic University and her M.A. in education from the University of Virginia.

DAVID ROSENBAUM, former reference librarian at Wayne State University (WSU), died in August. Rosenbaum joined the WSU Libraries in 1969 and retired in 1987. He remained at the Purdy/Kresge Library on a part-time basis until December 1990. A frequent contributor to library journals throughout his career, Rosenbaum was also a part-time instructor for the WSU Library Science Program from 1966-75.

LAWRENCE ZWEIZIG, reference librarian at the ALA Headquarters Library in Chicago, died in September of Hodgkin's disease at the age of 24. Zweizig joined the ALA staff in 1991. He received his bachelor's degree in history from the University of Washington and an MLS from the University of Wisconsin-Madison. His father is Douglas Zweizig, a faculty member at the University of Wisconsin-Madison School of Library and Information Science. ■ ■

Advertiser index

| | |
|----------------------------|---------|
| AMIGOS | 750 |
| Blackwell | cover 4 |
| Book House | cover 3 |
| Chadwyck-Healey | 736 |
| Physician's Desk Ref. | 705 |
| National Archives | 744 |
| K.G. Saur | cover 2 |