Deaths

Frank Turner, 66, recently appointed university librarian, professor of 19th-century European history and former university provost at Yale University, has died. Turner was named university librarian in September after serving as interim university librarian since January 2010. He continued to serve as director of the Beinecke Rare Book and Manuscript Library. Turner served as director for seven years, and previously served as provost between 1988 and 1992. Turner doubled the number of classes taught in the Beinecke and pioneered a digitization project to make Beinecke materials available online. Turner began teaching at Yale full time in 1971, and received the Yale College Award for Distinguished Undergraduate Teaching for his work teaching European history. Turner was the recipient of a Guggenheim Fellowship in 1983 and a fellowship from the National Endowment for the Humanities, and is the author of four academic books and more than 25 scholarly articles. ♪
