

piler states that one-third or 900 citations are about Nigeria, Africa's most populated country. Sitzman requires users to adjust to the idiosyncratic arrangement of his essays, chronologies, and bibliographies before finding the important references buried in African Libraries; with some attention and skill, this can be done. Because of its comprehensive scope, African Libraries is an important guide to the library literature about and from Sub-Saharan Africa that is difficult to identify. However, its arrangement, with some parts already out of date, and its lack of comprehensive indexes prevent it from being an unqualified first-choice reference tool.—John Bruce Howell, International Studies Bibliographer, University of Iowa Libraries, Iowa City.

Original thinking...
Risk-taking...
Innovation...
Managing for change...

These are the qualities needed by academic librarians facing the challenges of the 1990s. The Hugh C. Atkinson Memorial Award Endowment encourages the development of leaders possessing these important qualities through the annual recognition of a librarian with the vision to carry us into the 21st century.

Your contribution will ensure the endowment's continued ability to give this award. Your gift is important. Please send in your donation today.
