

Interdisciplinary Journal of Partnership Studies Vol. 12 Issue 2: Transitions from Old to New Models

Call for Papers

Submission Deadline: September 30, 2025

The Interdisciplinary Journal of Partnership Studies will publish a themed issue for Issue 2 of 2025: Transitions from Old to New Models. We invite contributions for a special issue that will explore the dynamics, challenges, and opportunities possible within transitions from established models to new emerging paradigms.

Transitions play a key role in driving innovation and shaping how systems, societies, and nations evolve. Across disciplines and the world, transitions from older frameworks to new models provokes both disruption and creativity. This special issue seeks to gather scholarship that highlights these processes, offering insights into how transitions are supported, implemented, challenged, and sustained.

The editors of this issue invite researchers, scholars, activists, authors, and artists to submit original writing for publication. The submission deadline is September 30, 2025.

For policies about submissions, please go to our Policies page at pubs.lib.umn.edu/index.php/ijps/policies/ Formatting guidelines are on our Style Guide at pubs.lib.umn.edu/index.php/ijps/styleguide/

Papers that do not follow the APA style criteria will be returned. To submit an article, please create an account and follow directions on the Submissions page at pubs.lib.umn.edu/index.php/ijps/about/submissions/

Please note our page limit is 20 pages plus references.

For additional questions please contact Managing Editor Mara Flynn at ijps@umn.edu.

Thank you,

The Editors

Interdisciplinary Journal of Partnership Studies