
LIFELINES

EL-Shahat H. A. Nashy, see JALCA 99, 271, 2004

Ahmed I. Hussein received his Masters degree in 1992 and PhD in 1997. He continued as a Researcher, and in 2010 became a Professor, Dept. of Polymers and Pigments, National Research Center, Dokki, Cairo, Egypt. He has published 15 manuscripts in well-recognized scientific journals, receiving an award from the Journal of Pigment ans Resin Technology in 2006.

Mohamed M. M. Essa graduated from the faculty of science, chemistry department, Cairo University in 1991. He received his Master degree in organic chemistry (rubber blend composites) in 1999. In 2006 he received a PhD degree in organic chemistry, focusing on the preparation of environmentally friendly corrosion inhibitors and their applications in emulsion paints to protect steel from corrosion. Presently he is working as a researcher in the polymers department, National Research Center, Dokki, Cairo, Egypt. Since 1996 and he has published many articles concerned with improving the homogeneity of incompatible rubber blends, use some of synthetic polymers and focused on their industrial applications in many industrial fields.

N. Nishad Fathima, see JALCA 98, 263, 2003

J. Raghava Rao, see JALCA 93, 156, 1998

Balachandran Unni Nair, see JALCA 93, 156, 1998

Yunhang Zeng received her Bachelor's Degree in Leather Chemistry and Engineering at Sichuan University, China, in 2008. Now she is undertaking her PhD research at Sichuan University. Her research focuses on clean technology of leather manufacture.

Jiahong Lu is an undergraduate of Sichuan University, China, and majoring in Leather Chemistry and Engineering.

Xuepin Liao, see JALCA 100, 447, 2005

Qiang He, see JALCA 100, 30, 2005

Bi Shi, see JALCA 99, 220, 2004

T. Canals graduated in Chemistry, University of Barcelona, Spain, in 1980. He received his Ph. D. degree in Chemistry at the University Autònoma of Barcelona in 1997. He received a Master's in Tanning Technical Management from the Universitat Politècnica de Catalunya, Spain, in 1999. Since 1984 he has been working as a lecturer at the Igualada Industrial Engineering Technical School – Igualada Tanning School at the Universitat Politècnica de Catalunya. He is mainly involved in the development of innovative analytical methods in leather and paper processing.

J. M. Morera, see JALCA 101, 284, 2006

F. Combalia, see JALCA 105, 172, 2010

E. Bartoli, see JALCA 101, 376, 2006

E. Borràs graduated in English Philology at the University of Barcelona (1992). In 1998 she earned a Master of Arts (Translation studies) from Rutgers University. She has been teaching Technical English for Leather Technology students for over a decade. Currently she is finishing her Ph. D. on the management of multilingualism at the university.