This issue marks the completion of my term as Editor-in-Chief of Learning Disabilities: A Multidisciplinary Journal. I feel great pride in having served as the first editor of the journal and believe that the journal has made a substantial contribution to the literature on learning disabilities.

Dr. Jeannette Fleischner, a well respected special educator, has been appointed to succeed me. I wish her success, and I am confident that she will continue to produce a journal of superior quality.

I commend LDA for initiating and supporting this journal and extend best wishes for continued success.
