ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

This proceedings contains papers from the eleventh conference in Semantics and Linguistic Theory, May 11-13, 2001, at New York University. We thank the reviewers who rated and commented on the 84 abstracts submitted to the conference, and the authors for submitting camera-ready copies to this volume. Unfortunately, the paper presented by Kit Fine was not available for publication in this volume.

The conference was made possible by financial support from the Deans of Social Sciences and by the Department of Linguistics of New York University, and was organized by Anna Szabolcsi, with the help of Maryam Bakht-Rofheart, Stefan Benus, Holm Braeuer, Komlan Essizewa, Ken Lacy, Erez Levon, and Paul Postal.

Finally, thanks to CLC publications, Sheila Haddad, Angie Tinti and the Field of Linguistics at Cornell University for making the publication possible.
