

INTRODUCTION

Dear Readers and Authors,

It is with great satisfaction we present to you the second issue of 2018 of the scientific quarterly Copernican Journal of Finance & Accounting, which is a place for the presentation and exchange of academic thought.

The ability to observe changes taking place in a dynamically changing economic environment, searching for research gaps, formulating research problems and conducting research are just some of the scientist's skills. We want to support these kind of skills by presenting articles from various national and foreign research centres. In the current issue we present articles prepared by scientists from Bangladesh, Columbia, Italy and Poland.

We would like to give special thanks to the Authors, Reviewers, Members of the Scientific Council and the Editorial Team. Your contribution is especially valuable for the constant development of the journal and thus the scientific disciplines that the CJF&A represents.

We encourage all scientists from all countries and universities who conduct research in the area of interest of our journal to exchange and publish the results of your research in our Copernican Journal of Finance & Accounting.

Yours sincerely,
Executive Editor,
Dorota Krupa, Ph.D.
