PROFILES

After eighteen years of distinguished and diversified service to the University of Minnesota library system, Ralph H. Hopp has been appointed Director of Libraries for the Twin Cities Campus, replacing Dr. S. B. Stanford. Dr. Stanford will be joining the faculty of the library school at the University of Minnesota on July 1.

Ralph H. Hopp

As is often the case with the leading library directors, Mr. Hopp has taught and written widely. He has been a lecturer at the University of Denver and the University of Ankara, the latter as a Fulbright lecturer.

His publishing activities reflect a concern with university library administration, library construction, and scientific literature. His dissertation for his Ph.D. at the University of Illinois dealt with documentation in science and technology. He has published several papers concerning university library problems and has authored a number of surveys.

Professionally, his work has included the chairmanship of the Library Technology Program Advisory Committee, chairmanship of the Buildings and Equipment Section of LAD. He is presently Chairman-elect of the University Libraries Section of ACRL.

Western Michigan University has indicated their commitment to progressive and innovative library service by their appointment of Carl Sachtleben as director of libraries to succeed Peter Spyers-Duran, who is now director of libraries at Florida Atlantic.

Mr. Sachtleben, who earned his B.A. degree at Valparaiso, his B.S. in Library Science from Western Reserve University and his M.A. from Washington (St. Louis) University, was formerly director of libraries at

Carl Sachtleben

Valparaiso University, a position he took in 1964. Before his appointment at Valparaiso, he was a member of the St. Louis University Library staff from 1958 to 1964. During his six years at St. Louis University, he occupied positions of increasing responsibility until in 1962 he was appointed assistant director of libraries.

His recent professional affiliations reflect his professional interests. He has served on the ACRL committees for appointments and nominations and is Chairman of ACRL's College Library Section for 1970-71. He also has close ties with the Indiana Library Association and the Lutheran Academy for Scholarship.
