NEWS NOTES

● NELINET, INC., Newton, Massachusetts, has elected three new members to its Board of Directors at its annual spring membership meeting held April 1. Artemis Kirk, director of libraries at Simmons College; Colin McKirdy, systems librarian at Boston College; and Richard Talbot, director of libraries at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst, assumed three year terms on the board on July 1. Former NELINET Board Chair, Jay Lucker, director of libraries at MIT, was re-elected by the membership to serve a second term on the board.

● The TEXAS A&M UNIVERSITY, College Station, has announced that a special keepsake publication on artist, illustrator and teacher Harvey Dunn produced for the Friends of the Library has won an award. The keepsake, published in the spring of 1980, was entitled I Am My Work; My Work Is Me, and included some of Dunn's work as well as a few of his thoughts about art. In a recent regional competition sponsored by the Council for the Advancement and Support of Education (CASE), the keepsake was selected to be the recipient of the Council's Grand Award in Special Print Communication.

● The UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS AT EL PASO has been authorized by the University of Texas System Board of Regents to begin construction of a new central library building. The total project cost is estimated at $28.8 million. The site will be near the academic center of the campus, convenient to the public and in an area that will accommodate future expansion. The new building will house 1.2 million volumes, provide seating for 2,420, and fulfill present and anticipated growth for the next ten years. ■■

PROFILES

ELIZABETH M. CORBETT has been named librarian at Barnard College, the undergraduate college for women affiliated with Columbia University in New York. Corbett has been acting librarian for one year.

She joined the Barnard administration as circulation librarian in 1969. She received her bachelor's degree from Wellesley College and her MLS from Simmons College. In fall 1977 she was a library consultant for purchases and planning at Silliman University, Dumaguete City, Philippines.

Corbett was president of the Academic and Special Libraries Section of the New York Library Association in 1979-80.

EVELYN H. DANIEL has been appointed dean of the School of Information Studies, Syracuse University, effective July 1. Daniel joined the faculty of the school in 1976 and formerly served as assistant dean and associate professor. She succeeds Robert S. Taylor, who has headed the school since 1972 and who will continue on the faculty.

Before she came to Syracuse, Daniel taught at the University of Rhode Island (1974-76), the University of Kentucky (1972-74), and the University of Maryland (1970-72). She has been a consultant for the University Consortium for Instructional Development and Technology (1976-77) and for the Learning Activities Resource Center, California State University at Chico (1974-75).

She holds a master's and a doctorate in library science from the University of Maryland (1969 and 1974). Daniel is chair of the ALA Library Education Committee, a member of the American National Standards Institute Subcommittee on Revision of Library Standards, and a member of the U.S. Department of Education Office of Libraries and Learning Technologies Task Force charged with defining a research agenda for the 1980s.

ANN M. DE KLERK has been appointed university librarian of the Ellen Clarke Bertrand Library, Bucknell University, Lewisburg, Pennsylvania. She comes to Bucknell from Carnegie-Mellon University, Pittsburgh, where she has served in numerous positions since 1965, including associate director from 1978 and head librarian of the Engineering and Science Library from 1975 to 1978. She succeeds George M. Jenks, who asked that a new librarian be appointed so he could devote more time to collection development.

Ann de Klerk

De Klerk obtained an MLS from the University of Pittsburgh School of Library and Information Science, and a post-graduate certificate in education from the University of London, England. At Carnegie-Mellon she served on the Faculty Senate from 1972 to 1977 and chaired that body's Student Affairs Council in 1976-77.

De Klerk has been active in local chapters of ACRL, the American Society for Information Science, and the Special Libraries Association, as well as the Pittsburgh Regional Library Center.

She has presented papers at meetings of ALA's Library Research Round Table and ASIS, and has written articles for Special Libraries and Library Resources and Technical Services. In 1980 she conducted a feasibility study on converting Carnegie-Mellon's card catalog to a machine-readable format, and in 1976 she was editor of a revised edition of Western Pennsylvania Resources, published by the Pittsburgh Regional Library Center.

EDWARD D. GARTEN has been appointed director of university libraries at Tennessee Technological University, Cookeville, effective September 1. Prior to his appointment he was director of library and media services at Northern State College, Aberdeen, South Dakota, from 1979 to 1981; assistant to the director, Moorhead State University, Minnesota, from 1977 to 1979; and an intern in university administration at the University of Toledo from 1975 to 1977.

He has been an active member of the Mountain Plains Library Association and the American Association of University Administrators, and has been a consultant to numerous colleges and universities in the Midwest in the areas of instructional development, staff and faculty development, and collection development.

Garten holds a Ph.D. in academic administration from the University of Toledo, an MLS from Kent State University, a master's in education from Ohio State University, and a master's of divinity from the Methodist Theological School.

GUY MARCO, former dean of the School of Library Service at Kent State University, has been appointed director of the Division of Library Science at San Jose State University. Marco succeeds retiring director Leslie H. Janke who has served as head of the San Jose program for the past 20 years.

Marco has had extensive experience in library education and administration, including service on the staff of the Library of Congress, and visiting lecturer at the University of Maryland and the College of Librarianship at Aberystwyth, Wales. Most recently he has been the director of the North American Division of Library Development Consultants in London, England.

Marco assumes his duties at San Jose beginning with the Fall 1981 semester.

MARY R. MAGRUDER has been named dean of libraries at Kansas State University, Manhattan, effective in the fall. She will be the chief administrator of the entire system, which includes the main Francis David Farrell Library and four major branch libraries. She succeeds G. Jay Rausch, who resigned last fall to enter private business.

Magruder has served as associate director of libraries at the University of Saskatchewan since 1975 and prior to that served as associate university librarian and head of the Lockwood Memorial Library at SUNY-Buffalo; chief social sciences bibliographer and acting assistant director for collection development at SUNY-Buffalo; and Latin American cataloger at the University of Texas Library.

A former Fulbright Fellow to the Universidad Nacional in Buenos Aires, Magruder holds an MLS degree from the University of Texas. She has long been involved with the Seminar on the Acquisition of Latin American Library Materials, serving as SALALM's president in 1976-77. She has also been active in ACRL's Personnel Officers of Academic Libraries Discussion Group and serves on the LAMA Personnel Administration Section's Union Relations for Managers Ad Hoc Committee.

In the Canadian Library Association, Magruder was involved in the Committee on the Status of Women, 1975-77. She is also a member of the Latin American Studies Association and the Saskatchewan Library Association for which she served on the editorial board in 1978-79.

National Conference Update

The Twin Cities are served by all major domestic airlines and several international carriers. Direct limousine service from the airport to the conference hotels is available for under $5 at the airport ground level near the baggage claim area. Taxi fares are by the fraction of the mile, which apply to the entire load, not to the individual passenger. Cab fare from the airport to the hotels is approximately $15.

Parking is available at the hotels as follows:
Hyatt—$4.25 per 24 hours;
Holiday Inn—$3 per day (guests park free);
Leamington—$2.50 per day.

Looking for a job? Looking for an employee? The Placement Center at the National Conference may be used by conference participants only to register as job applicants. Any employer who wishes to advertise through the service, whether registered or not, may do so by contacting the ACRL office for appropriate forms. Full interviewing facilities and an employer/employee message center will also be available.

Runners, tennis buffs, athletes of all kinds—remember that the ACRL Conference Information Desk will have jogging maps and tennis tournament information. The Hyatt Hotel offers its full-scale Greenway Athletic Club with running, swimming, sauna, and other health club facilities. Ask at the Hyatt Hotel registration desk for further information.

Want to save a few dollars? Shapero's, the Hyatt's convenience store, offers not only the usual hotel guest shop paraphernalia but also a full supply of breakfast and snack convenience foods. For your early morning quickie and your late night snack, don't forget to visit Shapero's.

SAY IT WITH A POSTER

At its 1982 Annual Conference in Philadelphia, ALA will introduce the concept of Poster Sessions on a pilot basis. Selected individuals will have an opportunity to present research findings and innovative programs on 4-by-6 foot poster boards located in the exhibit area. During the assigned 90-minute time period, presenters will be available for informal discussion with interested conference attendees. The poster sessions will take place during the conference exhibit hours, Saturday, July 10, through Tuesday, July 13.

Poster Sessions are intended to provide an effective channel for the communication of research and ideas. This is an opportunity for ALA attendees to share their accomplishments and research and to discuss areas of mutual interest on a face-to-face basis. It is anticipated that this method of information exchange will become a regular feature of future ALA conferences.

Three general categories of presentations will be considered for inclusion:

- Recently completed research;
- New and innovative library/information/media programs;
- Imaginative efforts at resolving practical library and informative problems.

Presentations may cover any subject of professional interest to librarians and information specialists and could include such diverse topics as a theoretical research study on information transfer, an innovative outreach program for the homebound senior citizen, or a systematically developed effort at personnel classification.

Entries must be submitted on an official entry form by an individual, a group or an institution. Submissions must be received by January 4, 1982, and will be evaluated and selected by a panel at the 1982 Midwinter Conference in Denver. Criteria for selection include quality, topical balance, and suitability for Poster Session presentation. A maximum of 300 presentations can be accommodated in twenty Poster Session booths during the Philadelphia Conference.

For submission guidelines and further information, write: Poster Sessions, School of Library and Information Science, Catholic University of America, Washington, DC 20064. ■■

Philippines Tragedy

A recent fire at the Philippine Military Academy, Republic of the Philippines, destroyed more than 14,000 volumes, including English language books, magazines, and other resource materials. The U.S. Army Western Command at Fort Shafter, Hawaii, is coordinating a donation program. Interested parties may donate books, magazines, corporate and institutional publications, or any English language materials of interest to college-level professional military students for the Philippine Military Academy.

Materials should be sent directly to the Chief, JUSMAG-Phil, Attn: Ground Forces Service Section, APO San Francisco, 96528. Further information is available from Lt. Col. Karl Piotrowski, DCSOPS, HQS WESTCOM Fort Shafter, HI 96858.
