Should ACRL respond to social issues?

ACRL's Social Issues Task Force, established by President Anne Beaubien to prepare a set of recommendations "to guide ACRL on response (or non-response) to social issues" would like to hear from ACRL members. Take a moment to express your opinion on whether or not ACRL should respond as a professional association to social issues and give your reasons for this belief. Your statement will be of significant importance in the task force's deliberations. Comments should be sent by January 17, 1992, to: Betsy Hine, Indiana State University, Terre Haute, IN 47809 or LIBHINE@INDST.bitnet.

The task force was formed in response to the controversy surrounding the ACRL Board's decision to move the ACRL National Conference from Arizona to Utah. Recommendations from the task force are due to the ACRL Board at the 1992 Annual Conference in San Francisco.

Full-text databases for the humanities scholar

The Patrologia Latina Database

a complete, machine-readable edition of J. P. Migne's Patrologia Latina from the Patrologiae Cursus Completus.

The English Poetry Full-Text Database an electronic version of the complete works of 1,350 poets from the Anglo-Saxon era (600 AD) to the end of the 19th century.

Both databases are SGML-encoded in accord with emerging Text Encoding Initiative (TEI) standards and published with a liberal networking structure.
